Ike To Have Heart Exam At His Home

Politicians Awaiting Reports To Answer Re-election Plans

GETTYSBURG, Pa. Dec. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower reaches another medical milestone tomorrow—the end of 12 weeks of convalescence and another heart check-up by Dr. Paul Dudley White.

Out of the examinations and consultations by the renowned heart specialist and three other doctors may come additional pieces for the jig-saw puzzle over Eisenhower's political intentions.

Certainly politicians of both parties will be looking for them. Yet it may be another month before the physicians can tell the chief executive that from the medical point of view he has all the facts they can offer on which to base a decision for or against trying for a second term in 1956.

Want Second Try

Ever since Eisenhower's Sept. 24 heart attack there has been an almost unbroken procession of medical bulletins reporting satisfactory progress toward recovery. As a result, numerous Republicans have been beating the tom toms for a second term try.

At the moment, however, Eisenhower is easing up on activity. Partly it is because most of the presidential chores on the new federal budget, the State of the Union message to Congress and the annual economic report have been finished. Partly it is because the doctors found that these chores had brought on a bit of fatigue.

Today the President went over a little official routine with Col. Andrew Goodpaster, secretary of the White House staff. Later on, he conducted an old friend and fishing companion, Aksel Nielsen of Denver, on a tour around the farm.

Tomorrow morning, White will be in to see Eisenhower at 10:30 a.m. A White House limousine is bringing him over from Baltimore, where he has been attending a session of the planning committee of the National Advisory Heart Council.

The Boston specialist, the chief consultant on the President's case, last examined Eisenhower in Denver on Nov. 7. With him tomorrow will be Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, chief of the heart department at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington; Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the President's personal doctor; and Maj. Walter Tkach, assistant White House physician.

To Check X-rays

The medical team, presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said, will go over electrocardiograms and X-ray pictures of the President's heart and chest made last Saturday at Walter Reed, results of blood chemistry tests, and the day-to-day records Snyder and Tkach have kept.

At a midafternoon news conference, White is expected to give the White House press corps an up-to-the-minute analysis of Eisenhower's health and an outline of the program for continued convalescence.

Kefauver Tosses Hat Into Circle

May Seek Nomination In Primaries

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Lanky Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee got into the Democratic presidential nomination race today with the announced intention of combatting Adlai E. Stevenson in one state primary—and probably several.

Stevenson welcomed Kefauver's entry into the race, saying: "Come on in. The water's fine."

The 52-year-old Tennessee senator, making his announcement at a crowded news conference, said he has assurances from party leaders that "I will have a fair shake for the nomination."

Kefauver said he will enter the June 5 California primary. Stevenson, first to enter the nomination race this year, has the backing of most California party organization leaders.

In Los Angeles, Chairman Tom Carrell of the Kefauver for President Clubs of California, predicted the senator again would win control of the California delegation as he did in 1952.

Kefauver, who led on two convention ballots three years ago only to see the nomination go to Stevenson, said he will campaign vigorously.

Adlai Is "Glad"

Stevenson issued his "come on in" comment in Chicago. He also said he was glad to hear that Kefauver had stated he wanted to increase the unity and strength of the Democratic party.

"Certainly we shall need unity and strength next November for the important contest," Stevenson said.

Kefauver said that time and money—he remarked that he didn't have too much of either to spare—would determine what primaries in addition to California he might enter.

In this connection, he said he will decide "very soon" whether to contest Stevenson in the May 29 Forida primary. At Miami, Frank Katzentine, a Kefauver backer, said the senator would be entered.

Kefauver said he was getting "rank-and-file" requests to run in the March 20 Minnesota balloting, where Stevenson has the backing of the Democratic-Farmer - Labor party organization.

May Try In New Hampshire

There was an indication that Kefauver might try again in the March 13 New Hampshire primary, where he defeated a slate pledged to former President Truman in 1952.

Kefauver said his associates there "are getting their snow shoes out because they know how much I like New Hampshire." Francis A. Dostilio said at Keene, N.H., he stood ready to enter Kefauver.

The senator said he couldn't lay down "any categorical rule" as to whether he would enter contests in states where "favorite sons" are running.

He said he had made no decision about the May 8 Ohio primary where Gov. Frank Lausche is seeking favorite son designation.

Kefauver's unsurprising announcement that he was entering the race came at a news conference in a downtown hotel.

Escaped Mental Patient Nabbed Visiting Doctor

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—A 41-year-old Texan who killed his parents 20 years ago and escaped from a mental hospital in 1952 was arrested today as he consulted a psychiatrist in a downtown office building.

Police said Howard Merrit Pierson surrendered quietly.

Pierson was 20 and a brilliant student at the University of Texas when he took his parents to a lonely road and killed them. His father, William Pierson was an associate justice of the Texas State Supreme Court.

The murder case was one of the most sensational of the 1930s. Pierson was adjudged insane and was committed to the Austin, Tex., State Hospital.

Detective Francis Garn said an attorney, whom he declined to identify, alerted Texas authorities that he had advised Pierson to consult the psychiatrist. Texas officials tipped police here. The psychiatrist was not identified.

Garn said Pierson had consulted the attorney professionally and had told him the story of his life.

Pierson escaped from the state hospital in 1938 but was recaptured later that year in Minneapolis, Minn., where he was working as a door-to-door magazine salesman.

In Dec. 9, 1952, Pierson and another patient, Gilbert Wagner, broke free from a third-floor hospital room. They lowered themselves on a rope of knotted sheets and fled. Wagner, who had been committed to the institution after threats against the life of multi-millionaire Hugh Roy Cullen, was captured a few months later in Ohio.

Private Opinions Sought In Probe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP) — An appeal was made today by a House Investigating subcommittee for the opinions of private individuals and nongovernmental groups on government information practices.

The subcommittee, which is investigating the flow of information from federal agencies, directed its request to civic groups and individuals regularly in contact with government information sources.

They were asked if there is an adequate flow of information, whether undue delays or restrictions have been experienced and whether there has been a noticeable change in the amount or type of information available over the past 10 years.

Union Head Is Labeled Public Enemy

Rep. Hiestand Says Reuther Will Dominate Democratic Convention

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16 (AP) — Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand (R-Calif) today called Walter Reuther, AFL-CIO vice president, "public enemy No. 1" and predicted the labor leader would dominate the Democratic national convention.

"Nobody will be nominated for president (by the Democrats) without the approval of Walter Reuther," declared Hiestand, congressman from California's 21st District, at a news conference.

Hiestand said Reuther was "a Socialist with a Communist-Russian background" and told reporters:

Reuther Is Unavailable

In Detroit, an aide to Reuther said the United Auto Worker's president was not available for direct comment. However, the union issued a 200-word reply in his behalf. In it the union said reports of the conference "indicate that Mr. Hiestand is totally ignorant of the American labor movement and American politics and grossly misinformed on the career of Walter P. Reuther, president of the UAW and vice president of the AFL-CIO."

Hiestand, a former business executive, said that if Reuther forces his candidate on the convention the Democratic party will be forced to adopt "the socialist measures" which, the congressman said, have been the political policy of the AFL-CIO. These, he said, include 500 million dollars worth of public housing.

These policies call for "fiscal irresponsibility," "terrific spending," and would mean higher taxes, national debt and inflated currency, Hiestand stated.

Controls Political Action

The congressman told newsmen that, although George Meany is president of the new joint labor organization, Reuther controls the political action. He pointed to the success of the CIO Political Action Committeee in the latest Michigan elections.

Hiestand declared that if Reuther succeeds in getting "a hand-picked Democratic candidate for president"—the congressman didn't say which one—the labor leader's strategy in 1960 might be to have himself nominated for president.

Hiestand labeled Reuther "the No. 1 Socialist in the U.S.," said he had studied communism in Russia and with his brother had written a book in which he predicted that the world eventually would be communized.

Burns Probes Syria Charge

DAMASCUS, Syria, Dec. 16 (AP)—Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U.N. Palestine truce supervisors, flew into Damascus today, presumably to discuss Syrian charges of Israeli aggression.

Burns conferred with Syrian army chief of staff Gen. Shawkat Shuquair. Informed sources said Shuquair demanded release of Syrians captured Sunday night in the Israeli attack on Syrian posts near the east shore of the Sea of Galilee.

The sources also said Shuquair also presented a demand for compensation from Israel for damage inflicted on civilian property. The compensation sought is estimated at the equivalent of $400,000.

A Syrian army spokesman reported two Syrian patrols exchanged fire with two Israeli units last night. This report was denied in Jerusalem, where an Israeli army spokesman said Israeli forces had not been in action since Sunday.

The Syrian spokesman said the Israelis last night were trying to penetrate Syrian territory from the southern sector of the demilitarized zone between the two countries. He said Israeli regulars stationed at Kalaat el Huson fired on Syrian posts, but stopped when Syrian artillery replied.

NATO Leaders Say Russians Threaten World

PARIS, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ministers of the North Atlantic Alliance declared tonight recent Russian moves have created a new challenge to the free world.

They say this challenge comes from Soviet activities in the Middle East and Asia, which they called provocative, coupled with an increase in Russian military power.

A communique ending a two-day meeting of the foreign, defense and finance ministers of the 15 NATO nations echoed in this respect a warning from U.S. Secretary of State Dulles yesterday that the cold war is on again in earnest.

The communique reaffirmed determination of the members to roll back the Russians from German territory by peaceful means and reunify the country under the Bonn Federal Republic.

Such a reunification of Germany is essential to a just and lasting peace, it said.

In an evident reply to the recent new pressure on the isolated Western sectors of Berlin, the ministers declared the security and welfare of the former German capital is vital to the peace of the world. With this, all members of the Alliance pledged their support to the three Western occupation powers in resisting any attempt by the East German regime to oust them from Berlin.

The ministers condemned Russia's refusal to negotiate on Western proposals for Germany's reunification through free elections, coupled with worldwide disarmament and greater East-West trade.

Summing up the two-day session, the council officially announced it had approved the military targets for NATO members in 1956, and their tentative buildup goals for 1957 and 1958.

It said all member governments are determined to see NATO's forces equipped with the most modern weapons, an obvious reference to the nuclear age arms which NATO planners have adopted as the basis for their new look strategy.

Railroads Seek 7 Per Cent Hike In Freight Rates

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—The nation's railroads announced today they will seek an immediate 7 per cent increase in freight rates and charges to effect increases in rail wages.

The announcement followed a meeting in Chicago of all the railroads' chief traffic officers.

The brief statement said:

"The 7 per cent increase is the minimum necessary to offset the cost of recent railroad wage and material price increases, which amount to more than half a billion dollars."

Through a spokesman, the rail officials said the roads will petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for the increase. He had no details on when the petition would be submitted or how the rate increases would be applied.

Check Service Men's Claims

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—A member of the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission said today the commission is attempting to determine whether some American service men are rightfully entitled to certain monetary benefits in the light of accusations that they gave aid and comfort to the enemy.

Henry J. Clay, a member of the five-man commission appointed by President Eisenhower, informed eight soldiers and ex-soldiers yesterday that they were being investigated. They are ex-prisoners of war.

Names were not disclosed.

In New York today, Clay said the War Claims Act provides that ex-POWs cannot receive certain monetary benefits if they give aid to the enemy without duress.

He said the men being investigated could not be told the details of the charges against them or who their accusers were because the information is provided by the military and is "classified."

Clay said, however, that he and other commissioners go as far as possible in stating generally the nature of the accusations and give the accused every chance to refute them.

He said it is up to the military to institute any criminal prosecution. Clay said the commission job is merely to determine whether ex-POWs are entitled to various benefits provided by law as the result of their service.

U. S. Claims Red China Has Violated Terms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The United States accused Red China tonight of violating an agreement it made Sept. 10 to permit all American citizens within its control to return home "expeditiously."

State Department officials said 14 Americans are still held in Red Chinese prisons out of a total of 19 who were in prison when the agreement was made.

Five of the 19 have been permitted to come home and 10 others, in addition to the 19, who were in prison or under house arrest, were released simultaneously with the announcement of the agreement.

Tonight's statement was prompted by a Chinese Communist charge at Geneva, Switzerland, yesterday that the United States had failed to live up to its part of the Sept. 10 agreement regarding repatriation of Chinese civilians in this country to Communist China.

The department said Chinese in the United States are now free to leave and have been "at all times since the announcement."

As of last March there were 129 Chinese students in this country who were barred from leaving because the Defense Department felt they had information or techniques which might be useful to the Reds.

The barrier was removed prior to the Sept. 10 agreement and officials said that approximately 39 Chinese have left the United States, presumably for Red China.

Bomb Injures Two

LIMASSOL, Cyprus, Dec. 16 (AP)—A bomb thrown outside a Limassol movie theater today injured a British soldier and a small girl. A second bomb failed to explode. Limassol has been declared out of bounds to British troops.

Compromise Fails After Stormy Row

Yugoslavia Refused Seat By Assembly; Philippines Withdrew

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—A proposed compromise deal to settle the deadlock over a Security Council seat collapsed tonight at a stormy session of the U.N. Assembly.

The Assembly refused to give Yugoslavia enough votes to elect it to the nonpermanent seat on the Council held by Turkey.

The deal announced by Assembly President Jose Maza of Chile called for Yugoslavia to resign after one year and for the Assembly next year to elect the Philippines.

Polled 34 Votes

Yugoslavia polled 34 votes, six short of the two-thirds vote of those present and taking part in the balloting. The Philippines, which withdrew under the deal, got 19 votes.

Spain received two votes, and Bulgaria, Italy, Sweden and Yemen one each.

Maza announced that in view of the voting he released both Yugoslavia and the Philippines from the agreement which had been worked out in frenzied conferences during the day.

Maza announced Yugoslavia had won in a drawing of lots for the first year's time on the Council. He said that Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines had agreed to withdraw his candidacy under the arrangement.

The deal aroused a storm of objections.

Dixon Defends Plan

Russia, New Zealand, Australia and several Latin-American countries paraded to the rostrum to register angry protests against what they called a violation of the Charter. They announced they would not be bound by any such arrangement.

Sir Pierson Dixon, Britain, defended the plan. He said there is nothing in the Charter to prevent a country resigning from the Council. He said it was a practical arrangement and he appealed to the Assembly to "come along" with this arrangement.

Russia Denounces Deal

This unusual procedure, never before seen in U.N. meetings, was agreed upon by a number of leading delegates when five ballots this morning showed no hope of solving the two-months deadlock over the Council seat held by Turkey.

V. V. Kuznetsov, first deputy foreign minister of the Soviet Union, who had balked in long secret conferences during the day, denounced the deal from the podium. He said it violated the U.N. Charter and it was illegal.

Munro Is Dissatisfied

In addition to the Kuznetsov denunciation, John D. L. Hood, Australia, whose country will take a two-year term on the council Jan. 1, expressed disagreement with the plan and regret that he had not been informed.

Sir Leslie Munro, New Zealand, a member of the Council for two years and president during this month, expressed complete disapproval of the plan. He said the Charter called for a two-year term and no shorter term could be arranged. He also said he would not be bound by any such agreement on how New Zealand would vote next year.

Tenneson Arrives Amid Spirit Of God, Christmas

ALDEN, Minn., Dec. 16 (AP)—To a country home, Richard Tenneson returned today rich in the spirit of God and Christmas, to explain "my side" of his defection to the Communists.

The 22-year-old farm boy, who earlier had declared himself an atheist, nodded silently before a cake fashioned in the form of an open Bible—the gift of church women.

It bore quotations from scripture counseling the former soldier, who shunned repatriation after the Korean War, to place his faith in God.

It was his expressed hostility to religion that disturbed his mother more than any side of young Tenneson's obviously confused state of mind.

Mrs. Portia Howe, whose unrelenting efforts to persuade the youth to return were climaxed this morning when he stepped off a plane in Minneapolis, nurtured the hope he would come back to God.

The crew-cut ex-Army private, looking frail in the oversized suit he has worn since he crossed into Hong Kong, appeared anxious to explain his actions to townspeople here and to the rest of the country.

"I know I have some explaining to do," Tenneson said in the living room of the family farm home. "I just don't know how to approach it. I want people to understand my side of the story. But I don't know what their feelings are now and I don't know how they'll react."

In Alden, a community of some 700 residents have lived intimately with the Tenneson story for two years, the youth's arrival at noon today from the Twin Cities surprisingly left little impact.

A large percentage expressed a willingness to "give Tenneson another chance." A few said they would not consider him welcome.

Tenneson told newsmen he did not believe himself guilty of any traitorous act in renouncing this country to live for two years with the Chinese Communists.

But he sidestepped answering why he had chosen to stay with the Communists and what prompted his return. Similarly, he refused comment on his earlier statement that the United States employed germ warfare in Korea.

Driver Is Killed In Truck Crash

GASSAWAY, W. Va., Dec. 16 (AP)—The 35-year-old driver of a tractor-trailer died today when his vehicle plunged into the ice-covered Elk River.

State Trooper S. P. Vandevender said the body of Emory R. Barnhouse of Emmitsburg, Md., was recovered from the badly crushed cab of the big vehicle about 4 p.m., more than eight hours after the crash.

Barnhouse's helper, Paul Horst of Winchester, Va., apparently was not seriously hurt in the early-morning wreck 20 miles southweest of here on W. Va. 4. Horst was brought to a Gassaway home, where he was treated by a physician.

Vandevender reported that two bulldozers belonging to a Gassaway pipeline contractor were used to pull the heavy trailer from off the tractor, which was partially upset and almost entirely beneath the river's surface.

The state trooper estimated the depth of the water at the accident scene to be approximately 10 feet.

Mechanic Admits Setting Fatal Fire

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 16 (AP)—An Oakland mechanic was reported today to have admitted responsibility for a gasoline fire which fatally burned a woman and a man in her apartment early yesterday.

Held for investigation of murder was Gerald Cornwell, 33, who, according to Police Lt. Hubert Murray, said he poured gasoline around the woman's Oakland apartment, intending to touch it off with a match.

Murray said Cornwell told investigators the gasoline fumes ignited, possibly from the pilot light of a floor furnace, before he could set the place afire himself.

Fatally burned were Mrs. Alice Franklin, 35, and Robert L. Hand, 27, recently discharged from the Air Force. Hand was from Upper Nyack, N.Y., where his mother lives.

MacRae Is Fined

SAN FERNANDO, Calif., Dec. 16 (AP)—Singer Gordon MacRae was convicted today of drunk driving and fined $315.

Two Are Jailed In Bomb Case

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 16 (AP)—Eight months of detective work ended today with the jailing of a blind man and his sister-in-law for bombing a closed department store in an extortion attempt.

A typewritten note provided the clue that put William Clarence Peddicord, 38, in jail last night. A few hours later, Mrs. Joyce Keller, 28, his sister-in-law, was arrested.

Detective Capt. William Browne said they admitted bombing the big Meier & Frank Co. store last April and leaving a note that demanded $50,000 on threat of another bombing.

Widow Of Famous Italian Tenor, Enrico Caruso, Dies

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP) — A long fight against cancer ended in death today for Mrs. Dorothy Park Benjamin Caruso, widow and greatest fan of the Italian tenor Enrico Caruso.

The 62-year-old Mrs. Caruso died in Union Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient since Nov. 13.

In 1945, nearly a quarter century after her famous husband's death, Mrs. Caruso wrote in his biography that she remembered "every minute" of their life together.

Mrs. Caruso was born into a prominent and literary New York family and was educated in a convent school.

In the past 10 years, she had devoted most of her time to her writings.

She met Caruso in 1917 when he already was a legendary figure as one of the greatest singers of all time. Despite her family's objections, they were married within a few months and the marriage proved to be an exceptionally happy one.

Caruso died only three years later, at the height of his career, in Naples from complications which followed a respiratory ailment.

After his death, Mrs. Caruso divided her time between Europe and America. A second marriage to Ernest A. Ingram ended in divorce in 1925 as did a third to Charles Adams Holder whom she married in 1933. After her divorce from Holder in 1940, Mrs. Caruso resumed her first husband's name.

During the early 1940's, Mrs. Caruso helped French peasants fleeing from the invading Nazi armies. She returned to the United States in 1942 but had been back to France frequently.

Mrs. Caruso moved to Towson just north of Baltimore, in 1949 to live with a daughter, Mrs. William Hamilton Porter.

At the time of her death, she was working on a series of stories about life on Caruso's farm near Florence, Italy, including receipes for his favorite foods and some unpublished anecdotes.

ALDEN, Minn., Dec. 16 (AP)—To a country home, Richard Tenneson returned today rich in the spirit of God and Christmas, to explain "my side" of his defection to the Communists.

The 22-year-old farm boy, who earlier had declared himself an atheist, nodded silently before a cake fashioned in the form of an open Bible—the gift of church women.

It bore quotations from scripture counseling the former soldier, who shunned repatriation after the Korean War, to place his faith in God.

It was his expressed hostility to religion that disturbed his mother more than any side of young Tenneson's obviously confused state of mind.

Mrs. Portia Howe, whose unrelenting efforts to persuade the youth to return were climaxed this morning when he stepped off a plane in Minneapolis, nurtured the hope he would come back to God.

The crew-cut ex-Army private, looking frail in the oversized suit he has worn since he crossed into Hong Kong, appeared anxious to explain his actions to townspeople here and to the rest of the country.

"I know I have some explaining to do," Tenneson said in the living room of the family farm home. "I just don't know how to approach it. I want people to understand my side of the story. But I don't know what their feelings are now and I don't know how they'll react."

In Alden, a community of some 700 residents have lived intimately with the Tenneson story for two years, the youth's arrival at noon today from the Twin Cities surprisingly left little impact.

A large percentage expressed a willingness to "give Tenneson another chance." A few said they would not consider him welcome.

Tenneson told newsmen he did not believe himself guilty of any traitorous act in renouncing this country to live for two years with the Chinese Communists.

But he sidestepped answering why he had chosen to stay with the Communists and what prompted his return. Similarly, he refused comment on his earlier statement that the United States employed germ warfare in Korea.

Union Head Is Labeled Public Enemy

Rep. Hiestand Says Reuther Will Dominate Democratic Convention

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16 (AP) — Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand (R-Calif) today called Walter Reuther, AFL-CIO vice president, "public enemy No. 1" and predicted the labor leader would dominate the Democratic national convention.

"Nobody will be nominated for president (by the Democrats) without the approval of Walter Reuther," declared Hiestand, congressman from California's 21st District, at a news conference.

Hiestand said Reuther was "a Socialist with a Communist-Russian background" and told reporters:

Reuther Is Unavailable

In Detroit, an aide to Reuther said the United Auto Worker's president was not available for direct comment. However, the union issued a 200-word reply in his behalf. In it the union said reports of the conference "indicate that Mr. Hiestand is totally ignorant of the American labor movement and American politics and grossly misinformed on the career of Walter P. Reuther, president of the UAW and vice president of the AFL-CIO."

Hiestand, a former business executive, said that if Reuther forces his candidate on the convention the Democratic party will be forced to adopt "the socialist measures" which, the congressman said, have been the political policy of the AFL-CIO. These, he said, include 500 million dollars worth of public housing.

These policies call for "fiscal irresponsibility," "terrific spending," and would mean higher taxes, national debt and inflated currency, Hiestand stated.

Controls Political Action

The congressman told newsmen that, although George Meany is president of the new joint labor organization, Reuther controls the political action. He pointed to the success of the CIO Political Action Committeee in the latest Michigan elections.

Hiestand declared that if Reuther succeeds in getting "a hand-picked Democratic candidate for president"—the congressman didn't say which one—the labor leader's strategy in 1960 might be to have himself nominated for president.

Hiestand labeled Reuther "the No. 1 Socialist in the U.S.," said he had studied communism in Russia and with his brother had written a book in which he predicted that the world eventually would be communized.

Burns Probes Syria Charge

DAMASCUS, Syria, Dec. 16 (AP)—Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U.N. Palestine truce supervisors, flew into Damascus today, presumably to discuss Syrian charges of Israeli aggression.

Burns conferred with Syrian army chief of staff Gen. Shawkat Shuquair. Informed sources said Shuquair demanded release of Syrians captured Sunday night in the Israeli attack on Syrian posts near the east shore of the Sea of Galilee.

The sources also said Shuquair also presented a demand for compensation from Israel for damage inflicted on civilian property. The compensation sought is estimated at the equivalent of $400,000.

A Syrian army spokesman reported two Syrian patrols exchanged fire with two Israeli units last night. This report was denied in Jerusalem, where an Israeli army spokesman said Israeli forces had not been in action since Sunday.

The Syrian spokesman said the Israelis last night were trying to penetrate Syrian territory from the southern sector of the demilitarized zone between the two countries. He said Israeli regulars stationed at Kalaat el Huson fired on Syrian posts, but stopped when Syrian artillery replied.

Driver Is Killed In Truck Crash

GASSAWAY, W. Va., Dec. 16 (AP)—The 35-year-old driver of a tractor-trailer died today when his vehicle plunged into the ice-covered Elk River.

State Trooper S. P. Vandevender said the body of Emory R. Barnhouse of Emmitsburg, Md., was recovered from the badly crushed cab of the big vehicle about 4 p.m., more than eight hours after the crash.

Barnhouse's helper, Paul Horst of Winchester, Va., apparently was not seriously hurt in the early-morning wreck 20 miles southweest of here on W. Va. 4. Horst was brought to a Gassaway home, where he was treated by a physician.

Vandevender reported that two bulldozers belonging to a Gassaway pipeline contractor were used to pull the heavy trailer from off the tractor, which was partially upset and almost entirely beneath the river's surface.

The state trooper estimated the depth of the water at the accident scene to be approximately 10 feet.

NATO Leaders Say Russians Threaten World

PARIS, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ministers of the North Atlantic Alliance declared tonight recent Russian moves have created a new challenge to the free world.

They say this challenge comes from Soviet activities in the Middle East and Asia, which they called provocative, coupled with an increase in Russian military power.

A communique ending a two-day meeting of the foreign, defense and finance ministers of the 15 NATO nations echoed in this respect a warning from U.S. Secretary of State Dulles yesterday that the cold war is on again in earnest.

The communique reaffirmed determination of the members to roll back the Russians from German territory by peaceful means and reunify the country under the Bonn Federal Republic.

Such a reunification of Germany is essential to a just and lasting peace, it said.

In an evident reply to the recent new pressure on the isolated Western sectors of Berlin, the ministers declared the security and welfare of the former German capital is vital to the peace of the world. With this, all members of the Alliance pledged their support to the three Western occupation powers in resisting any attempt by the East German regime to oust them from Berlin.

The ministers condemned Russia's refusal to negotiate on Western proposals for Germany's reunification through free elections, coupled with worldwide disarmament and greater East-West trade.

Summing up the two-day session, the council officially announced it had approved the military targets for NATO members in 1956, and their tentative buildup goals for 1957 and 1958.

It said all member governments are determined to see NATO's forces equipped with the most modern weapons, an obvious reference to the nuclear age arms which NATO planners have adopted as the basis for their new look strategy.

Mechanic Admits Setting Fatal Fire

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 16 (AP)—An Oakland mechanic was reported today to have admitted responsibility for a gasoline fire which fatally burned a woman and a man in her apartment early yesterday.

Held for investigation of murder was Gerald Cornwell, 33, who, according to Police Lt. Hubert Murray, said he poured gasoline around the woman's Oakland apartment, intending to touch it off with a match.

Murray said Cornwell told investigators the gasoline fumes ignited, possibly from the pilot light of a floor furnace, before he could set the place afire himself.

Fatally burned were Mrs. Alice Franklin, 35, and Robert L. Hand, 27, recently discharged from the Air Force. Hand was from Upper Nyack, N.Y., where his mother lives.

Railroads Seek 7 Per Cent Hike In Freight Rates

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—The nation's railroads announced today they will seek an immediate 7 per cent increase in freight rates and charges to effect increases in rail wages.

The announcement followed a meeting in Chicago of all the railroads' chief traffic officers.

The brief statement said:

"The 7 per cent increase is the minimum necessary to offset the cost of recent railroad wage and material price increases, which amount to more than half a billion dollars."

Through a spokesman, the rail officials said the roads will petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for the increase. He had no details on when the petition would be submitted or how the rate increases would be applied.

Check Service Men's Claims

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—A member of the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission said today the commission is attempting to determine whether some American service men are rightfully entitled to certain monetary benefits in the light of accusations that they gave aid and comfort to the enemy.

Henry J. Clay, a member of the five-man commission appointed by President Eisenhower, informed eight soldiers and ex-soldiers yesterday that they were being investigated. They are ex-prisoners of war.

Names were not disclosed.

In New York today, Clay said the War Claims Act provides that ex-POWs cannot receive certain monetary benefits if they give aid to the enemy without duress.

He said the men being investigated could not be told the details of the charges against them or who their accusers were because the information is provided by the military and is "classified."

Clay said, however, that he and other commissioners go as far as possible in stating generally the nature of the accusations and give the accused every chance to refute them.

He said it is up to the military to institute any criminal prosecution. Clay said the commission job is merely to determine whether ex-POWs are entitled to various benefits provided by law as the result of their service.

Two Are Jailed In Bomb Case

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 16 (AP)—Eight months of detective work ended today with the jailing of a blind man and his sister-in-law for bombing a closed department store in an extortion attempt.

A typewritten note provided the clue that put William Clarence Peddicord, 38, in jail last night. A few hours later, Mrs. Joyce Keller, 28, his sister-in-law, was arrested.

Detective Capt. William Browne said they admitted bombing the big Meier & Frank Co. store last April and leaving a note that demanded $50,000 on threat of another bombing.

U. S. Claims Red China Has Violated Terms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The United States accused Red China tonight of violating an agreement it made Sept. 10 to permit all American citizens within its control to return home "expeditiously."

State Department officials said 14 Americans are still held in Red Chinese prisons out of a total of 19 who were in prison when the agreement was made.

Five of the 19 have been permitted to come home and 10 others, in addition to the 19, who were in prison or under house arrest, were released simultaneously with the announcement of the agreement.

Tonight's statement was prompted by a Chinese Communist charge at Geneva, Switzerland, yesterday that the United States had failed to live up to its part of the Sept. 10 agreement regarding repatriation of Chinese civilians in this country to Communist China.

The department said Chinese in the United States are now free to leave and have been "at all times since the announcement."

As of last March there were 129 Chinese students in this country who were barred from leaving because the Defense Department felt they had information or techniques which might be useful to the Reds.

The barrier was removed prior to the Sept. 10 agreement and officials said that approximately 39 Chinese have left the United States, presumably for Red China.

Compromise Fails After Stormy Row

Yugoslavia Refused Seat By Assembly; Philippines Withdrew

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—A proposed compromise deal to settle the deadlock over a Security Council seat collapsed tonight at a stormy session of the U.N. Assembly.

The Assembly refused to give Yugoslavia enough votes to elect it to the nonpermanent seat on the Council held by Turkey.

The deal announced by Assembly President Jose Maza of Chile called for Yugoslavia to resign after one year and for the Assembly next year to elect the Philippines.

Polled 34 Votes

Yugoslavia polled 34 votes, six short of the two-thirds vote of those present and taking part in the balloting. The Philippines, which withdrew under the deal, got 19 votes.

Spain received two votes, and Bulgaria, Italy, Sweden and Yemen one each.

Maza announced that in view of the voting he released both Yugoslavia and the Philippines from the agreement which had been worked out in frenzied conferences during the day.

Maza announced Yugoslavia had won in a drawing of lots for the first year's time on the Council. He said that Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines had agreed to withdraw his candidacy under the arrangement.

The deal aroused a storm of objections.

Dixon Defends Plan

Russia, New Zealand, Australia and several Latin-American countries paraded to the rostrum to register angry protests against what they called a violation of the Charter. They announced they would not be bound by any such arrangement.

Sir Pierson Dixon, Britain, defended the plan. He said there is nothing in the Charter to prevent a country resigning from the Council. He said it was a practical arrangement and he appealed to the Assembly to "come along" with this arrangement.

Russia Denounces Deal

This unusual procedure, never before seen in U.N. meetings, was agreed upon by a number of leading delegates when five ballots this morning showed no hope of solving the two-months deadlock over the Council seat held by Turkey.

V. V. Kuznetsov, first deputy foreign minister of the Soviet Union, who had balked in long secret conferences during the day, denounced the deal from the podium. He said it violated the U.N. Charter and it was illegal.

Munro Is Dissatisfied

In addition to the Kuznetsov denunciation, John D. L. Hood, Australia, whose country will take a two-year term on the council Jan. 1, expressed disagreement with the plan and regret that he had not been informed.

Sir Leslie Munro, New Zealand, a member of the Council for two years and president during this month, expressed complete disapproval of the plan. He said the Charter called for a two-year term and no shorter term could be arranged. He also said he would not be bound by any such agreement on how New Zealand would vote next year.

Widow Of Famous Italian Tenor, Enrico Caruso, Dies

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP) — A long fight against cancer ended in death today for Mrs. Dorothy Park Benjamin Caruso, widow and greatest fan of the Italian tenor Enrico Caruso.

The 62-year-old Mrs. Caruso died in Union Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient since Nov. 13.

In 1945, nearly a quarter century after her famous husband's death, Mrs. Caruso wrote in his biography that she remembered "every minute" of their life together.

Mrs. Caruso was born into a prominent and literary New York family and was educated in a convent school.

In the past 10 years, she had devoted most of her time to her writings.

She met Caruso in 1917 when he already was a legendary figure as one of the greatest singers of all time. Despite her family's objections, they were married within a few months and the marriage proved to be an exceptionally happy one.

Caruso died only three years later, at the height of his career, in Naples from complications which followed a respiratory ailment.

After his death, Mrs. Caruso divided her time between Europe and America. A second marriage to Ernest A. Ingram ended in divorce in 1925 as did a third to Charles Adams Holder whom she married in 1933. After her divorce from Holder in 1940, Mrs. Caruso resumed her first husband's name.

During the early 1940's, Mrs. Caruso helped French peasants fleeing from the invading Nazi armies. She returned to the United States in 1942 but had been back to France frequently.

Mrs. Caruso moved to Towson just north of Baltimore, in 1949 to live with a daughter, Mrs. William Hamilton Porter.

At the time of her death, she was working on a series of stories about life on Caruso's farm near Florence, Italy, including receipes for his favorite foods and some unpublished anecdotes.

Israel's Ouster From UN Urged By Syria Leader

Urges Punishment For "Attack"

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Syria demanded today that Israel be thrown out of the United Nations.

Syrian delegate Ahmed Shukairy also urged the U. N. Security Council to use economic penalties in punishing Israel for an attack on Syria last Sunday northeast of the Sea of Galilee.

He cited Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser's warning to the U.N. last night that Egypt considered that attack an attack on her too and would meet force with force. Shukairy said the issue was "war or no war."

Will Defend Itself

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban replied to Nasser's threat, "If Israel is attacked, it will defend itself with every ounce of its strength." He warned all Arab countries, "Leave us alone."

The 11-nation Council was meeting to consider Syria's complaint at the attack. The complaint said the land-sea-air operation resulted in the capture of four Syrian observation posts and the deaths of 49 Syrians.

Even before hearing from Syria and Israel, 10 of the Council members deplored the attack on the basis of preliminary information.

They were Turkey, the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union, France, Iran, Nationalist China, Peru, Belgium and New Zealand. Only Brazil remained to be heard from at a later meeting.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of the United States said, "We oppose such acts of military violence." Arkady A. Sobolev of the Soviet Union declared the Council must confemn the Israeli action.

Await Complete Report

Eban, who represents Israel both here and in Washington, said the Israeli army made the attack to silence Syrian guns that otherwise would have kept Israeli fishing boats off a body of water that belonged to Israel.

Council members generally said they wanted to wait for a complete report on the incident from Canadian Maj. Gen. Edson L.M. Burns, chief U.N. truce supervisor in Palestine, before doing anything.

State Democrats Meet Kefauver; Primary Is Seen

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP)—Maryland Democrats met tonight with Sen. Estes Kefauver, newest candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, amid growing indications that Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro will run for the Senate.

The mayor, though acting more like a candidate every day, is still not talking for publication. But close friends and associates say he will announce formally after Jan. 1.

The pressure on D'Alesandro to announce before then undoubtedly will increase as Democratic leaders who are opposed to George P. Mahoney's candidacy, begin urging the mayor to make his position known.

Mahoney announced his candidacy for the Democratic senatorial nomination last Sunday but has yet to formally file.

D'Alesandro and other party leaders drove to Washington this afternoon to pick up Sen. Kefauver and bring him to Baltimore for tonight's meeting. They hope to find out whether he will enter Maryland's primary May 7.

Kefauver, in entering the race today, said he will enter as many state primaries as time and money permit. He was the only presidential candidate on the Democratic ballot three years ago and Maryland's delegates voted for him on the first ballot at the national convention.

Mayor D'Alesandro has never lost an election in the 28 years he has been seeking office. He was first elected in 1927 to the House of Delegates at the age of 23. Since then, he has served in the City Council, four terms in the House of Representatives and is in his third term as mayor of Baltimore.

He is the colorful, vote-getting type candidate the anti-Mahoney Democrats have been looking for. They have opposed Mahoney in two tries for the governorship and one previous run for the Senate.

A knock-down-drag-em-out primary would undoubtedly accompany a Mahoney-D'Alesandro rivalry. All of Mahoney's tries have been heated affairs. This one would differ in that he would have to fight Mayor D'Alesandro for Baltimore City's unit vote.

In his campaign against Dr. H. C. Byrd for the gubernatorial nomination last year, Mahoney carried five of the city's six districts but lost in the counties.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP) — The loft of a University of Maryland medical school building was damaged by fire today but firemen saved valuable scientific equipment, papers and books.

Firemen worked in sub-freezing weather to confine the blaze to the loft of the old three-story pathology building. Origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

Trigger Burke To Die In Chair

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Elmer (Trigger) Burke, disgruntled and defiant, today was sentenced to die in Sing Sing's electric chair for the barroom slaying of a pal. The death sentence was mandatory.

Burke, 38-year-old gunman and escape artist, was convicted of first degree murder Dec. 2 for the 1953 shooting of Edward (Poochy) Walsh, a longshoreman.

Twenty-three minutes after his sentence Burke was placed in an armored motorcade bound for Sing Sing. His Christmas will be spent in the death house.

In a rambling 12 minute presentence discourse, Burke claimed he had been offered a chance to plead to second degree murder — and escape the chair — "if I tell on my friends."

Then the World War II Ranger declared defiantly:

"I am not going to tell on my friends, or anything I know — and I don't say I know anything."

Sentencing Judge John A. Mullen of General Sessions Court, set the week of Jan. 23 for Burke's execution. However, the date is meaningless since a death sentence is automatically appealed in New York. A new date will be set some months hence if the appeal fails.

The other groups headed for North Africa, the mid-Pacific and the Northeast Air Command which includes Newfoundland, Labrador and Greenland.

Husband Of Queen's Cousin Found Dead

CASTLEBLAYNEY, Ireland, Dec. 16 (AP)—John Michael Blair, 30, husband of a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, was found shot dead today in a bedroom at the stately old Lough Bawn House.

A shotgun was at his side.

Blair was an overnight guest of Mrs. Ruth Tennyson at the lonely Irish estate not far from the border of Northern Ireland.

Blair's wife, Lady Nancy, 37, one of Princess Margaret's closest friends, was not staying at the house. She was not at her home in London tonight and neighbors said they had not seen her for two or three weeks.

Police said an inquest will be held tomorrow.

Senator Would Impeach Court

FLORENCE, S. C., Dec. 16 (AP) — Sen. Thurmond (D-SC), the 1948 States Rights Democratic candidate for president, says he is ready to vote to impeach every member of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Addressing the prosegregation Citizens Councils of Florence County last night, Thurmond attacked the court for its ruling that racially segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

A member of the audience, P.M. Norton of Florence, asked Thurmond:

"Is there any place in the Constitution giving the people themselves a way to impeach the Supreme Court?"

"No," Thurmond replied. He explained that only Congress can impeach.

"But," he shouted, "I'm ready tomorrow to vote to impeach every one of them." He asserted that the antisegregation ruling was not based on law but on "sociological and psychological grounds."

Firemen Cross State Line To Fight Fire

MARYDEL, Md., Dec. 16 (AP) — Two volunteer fire companies from Maryland crossed the State line today to battle flames which destroyed eight buildings on a Delaware farm.

Firemen from here and Goldsboro, Md., managed to save the farm house after wind skipped the flames from the burning building to the house roof.

Aunt Leaves Baby To Die In Fire

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — A 10-month-old Negro boy died today in a fire which burned his home as his baby-sitter aunt ran for help.

The child, Bruce Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Adams of the nearby community of Brown's Wood's, was pronounced dead by county medical examiner Dr. Elmer G. Linhardt after firemen extinguished the blaze.

The aunt, Clara Anderson, said she was caring for the child while the parents were at work. She told Anne Arundel County police she noticed an oil stove was leaking and had caught fire.

She laid the child on a sofa and ran to a neighboring house to call the Fire Department and could not get back into the house when she returned, police said.

Chaney Receives Five-Year Term For Fund Misuse

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP) — A former secretary of state of Maryland was sentenced to five years in prison today after he pleaded guilty to the misuse of $36,000 which belonged to the building and loan association that employed him.

The defendant, Edward G. Chaney, 42, was told by Judge Roszel C. Thomsen that the community had a right to expect more from him.

Chaney, an Annapolis lawyer, is the son of a dentist and had been prominent in civic affairs. He has been a member of the Annapolis city council and served as city counselor of Annapolis.

He served as secretary of state under former Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, who appointed him in 1946.

Chaney performed legal work for the Enterprise Building Assn. from 1949 until 1953. U. S. Atty. William F. Mosner said Chaney maintained four checking accounts in his name and one from which he drew checks in the name of the Association.

In settling loans and accepting payments on them he transferred money to his personal accounts, it was testified.

Mosner said the defendant spent Association money for his personal use. Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported about $26,000 of it had been accounted for.

Still missing, Mosner said, was some $10,000 of Association funds.

College Tuition Can't Be Prize

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 16 (AP)—A half-year's tuition at college is neither merchandise nor tangible personal property and, therefore, can't legally be offered as a prize in a raffle, Atty. Gen. John J. Bracken ruled today.

Recent legislation in Connecticut legalizes raffles under tight restrictions, one of which prohibits the offering of money as a prize.

The senior class at Fairfield University is seeking a permit to conduct a raffle with second semester tuition at the university as a prize.

Jones Is Appointed

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — Dr. Clifton R. Jones, a sociology professor at Morgan State College, was named to the Advisory Council of the Employment Security Board today to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of William I. Gosnell.

Westinghouse Offers $100 To Aid Workers' Christmas

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 16 (AP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. today offered to lend $100 cash to any striking or furloughed employe of the firm who needs money to provide "the essentials for a decent Christmas."

Production in 40 of the firm's biggest plants has been practically stalled by a strike of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the independent United Electrical Workers.

The UE called the loan offer a "nice gesture." The IUE said, "They (the company) have offered a bribe."

Neither union said specifically if it wanted its members to accept loans.

More than 50,000 workers are on strike and another 40,000 employes are furloughed or receiving only part-time work. The company says the strikers alone are losing $950,000 a day in wages.

A furloughed worker — or striker —must have lost 30 days consecutive work to qualify for the loan.

The big electric appliance firm did not comment on its own losses but other sources estimate production losses alone have passed 150 million dollars to date. That does not include maintenance costs.

Westinghouse also said it is unable to supply all of the home appliances that could be sold in the final weeks of the Christmas shopping season. Early supplies were pulled out of warehouses.

The loan offer was made by Gwilym A. Price, president and chairman of the board. He said:

"Our employes have suffered enough hardship from the strike called by the IUE and UE without having to face a completely cheerless Christmas.

"We recognize that some people may feel we are prolonging the strike by 'subsidizing' the strikers. We do not think so. We see no reason why the deadlock over terms of a union contract should mean a bleak Christmas for many thousands of children who would never quite understand why Santa passed them by."

Price said the details of handling the loans would be worked out and announced by individual plant managers.

Both unions took a dim view of the loan offer. UE said it would be better if a settlement were made. The IUE said, "It would be more in keeping with the Christmas spirit if Westinghouse were to sit down and bargain in good faith."

Both unions are pressing for wage increases under reopening clauses in present contracts. The company has offered a five-year pact which it said contains a total minimum wage increase of 23½ cents an hour.

Workers were earning an average of $2.10 an hour when the IUE called its 44,000 members out on strike Oct. 17. The UE called its strike Oct. 26. It claims 17,000 members but the company claims it represents only 10,500.

Murray To Back Stevenson's Bid For Demo Nomination

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today made public a letter in which he acknowledged a pledge of support for his presidential ambitions by Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont).

Stevenson wrote Murray, "I share your belief that the peoples' heritage has been endangered by programs which are at best short-sighted and at worst clearly indicate paramount concern for special interests."

Stevenson recalled that he had criticized the Eisenhower administration in a speech at Albuquerque, N.M., in October last year for a "giveaway" policy with respect to natural resources.

Detectives said the stabbing occurred after a pay-off was refused on a 25-cent numbers bet made by Bacote's wife, Ethel.

Mrs. Bacote went home and told her husband. And she said a short time later four men came to the house and attacked her husband, who was stabbed in the side and shoulder.

Israel's Ouster From UN Urged By Syria Leader

Urges Punishment For "Attack"

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Syria demanded today that Israel be thrown out of the United Nations.

Syrian delegate Ahmed Shukairy also urged the U. N. Security Council to use economic penalties in punishing Israel for an attack on Syria last Sunday northeast of the Sea of Galilee.

He cited Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser's warning to the U.N. last night that Egypt considered that attack an attack on her too and would meet force with force. Shukairy said the issue was "war or no war."

Will Defend Itself

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban replied to Nasser's threat, "If Israel is attacked, it will defend itself with every ounce of its strength." He warned all Arab countries, "Leave us alone."

The 11-nation Council was meeting to consider Syria's complaint at the attack. The complaint said the land-sea-air operation resulted in the capture of four Syrian observation posts and the deaths of 49 Syrians.

Even before hearing from Syria and Israel, 10 of the Council members deplored the attack on the basis of preliminary information.

They were Turkey, the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union, France, Iran, Nationalist China, Peru, Belgium and New Zealand. Only Brazil remained to be heard from at a later meeting.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of the United States said, "We oppose such acts of military violence." Arkady A. Sobolev of the Soviet Union declared the Council must confemn the Israeli action.

Await Complete Report

Eban, who represents Israel both here and in Washington, said the Israeli army made the attack to silence Syrian guns that otherwise would have kept Israeli fishing boats off a body of water that belonged to Israel.

Council members generally said they wanted to wait for a complete report on the incident from Canadian Maj. Gen. Edson L.M. Burns, chief U.N. truce supervisor in Palestine, before doing anything.

State Democrats Meet Kefauver; Primary Is Seen

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP)—Maryland Democrats met tonight with Sen. Estes Kefauver, newest candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, amid growing indications that Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro will run for the Senate.

The mayor, though acting more like a candidate every day, is still not talking for publication. But close friends and associates say he will announce formally after Jan. 1.

The pressure on D'Alesandro to announce before then undoubtedly will increase as Democratic leaders who are opposed to George P. Mahoney's candidacy, begin urging the mayor to make his position known.

Mahoney announced his candidacy for the Democratic senatorial nomination last Sunday but has yet to formally file.

D'Alesandro and other party leaders drove to Washington this afternoon to pick up Sen. Kefauver and bring him to Baltimore for tonight's meeting. They hope to find out whether he will enter Maryland's primary May 7.

Kefauver, in entering the race today, said he will enter as many state primaries as time and money permit. He was the only presidential candidate on the Democratic ballot three years ago and Maryland's delegates voted for him on the first ballot at the national convention.

Mayor D'Alesandro has never lost an election in the 28 years he has been seeking office. He was first elected in 1927 to the House of Delegates at the age of 23. Since then, he has served in the City Council, four terms in the House of Representatives and is in his third term as mayor of Baltimore.

He is the colorful, vote-getting type candidate the anti-Mahoney Democrats have been looking for. They have opposed Mahoney in two tries for the governorship and one previous run for the Senate.

A knock-down-drag-em-out primary would undoubtedly accompany a Mahoney-D'Alesandro rivalry. All of Mahoney's tries have been heated affairs. This one would differ in that he would have to fight Mayor D'Alesandro for Baltimore City's unit vote.

In his campaign against Dr. H. C. Byrd for the gubernatorial nomination last year, Mahoney carried five of the city's six districts but lost in the counties.

Equipment Saved In College Fire

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP) — The loft of a University of Maryland medical school building was damaged by fire today but firemen saved valuable scientific equipment, papers and books.

Firemen worked in sub-freezing weather to confine the blaze to the loft of the old three-story pathology building. Origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

CAR CAUGHT IN SQUEEZE—This parked automobile is literally caught in the middle after a bus collided with one car, caroomed into a second and finally pushed the unoccupied parked vehicle into the utility pole. Four persons were injured, two in the car that collided with the bus and the bus driver and a passenger. (AP Photofax)

Trigger Burke To Die In Chair

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Elmer (Trigger) Burke, disgruntled and defiant, today was sentenced to die in Sing Sing's electric chair for the barroom slaying of a pal. The death sentence was mandatory.

Burke, 38-year-old gunman and escape artist, was convicted of first degree murder Dec. 2 for the 1953 shooting of Edward (Poochy) Walsh, a longshoreman.

Twenty-three minutes after his sentence Burke was placed in an armored motorcade bound for Sing Sing. His Christmas will be spent in the death house.

In a rambling 12 minute presentence discourse, Burke claimed he had been offered a chance to plead to second degree murder — and escape the chair — "if I tell on my friends."

Then the World War II Ranger declared defiantly:

"I am not going to tell on my friends, or anything I know — and I don't say I know anything."

Sentencing Judge John A. Mullen of General Sessions Court, set the week of Jan. 23 for Burke's execution. However, the date is meaningless since a death sentence is automatically appealed in New York. A new date will be set some months hence if the appeal fails.

Iowa is the leading beef cattle state with an average of 82 head per square mile.

Firemen Cross State Line To Fight Fire

MARYDEL, Md., Dec. 16 (AP) — Two volunteer fire companies from Maryland crossed the State line today to battle flames which destroyed eight buildings on a Delaware farm.

Firemen from here and Goldsboro, Md., managed to save the farm house after wind skipped the flames from the burning building to the house roof.

Aunt Leaves Baby To Die In Fire

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — A 10-month-old Negro boy died today in a fire which burned his home as his baby-sitter aunt ran for help.

The child, Bruce Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Adams of the nearby community of Brown's Wood's, was pronounced dead by county medical examiner Dr. Elmer G. Linhardt after firemen extinguished the blaze.

The aunt, Clara Anderson, said she was caring for the child while the parents were at work. She told Anne Arundel County police she noticed an oil stove was leaking and had caught fire.

She laid the child on a sofa and ran to a neighboring house to call the Fire Department and could not get back into the house when she returned, police said.

Hollywood Stars Off To Entertain Troops At Yuletide

BURBANK, Calif., Dec. 16 (AP)—Six planes carrying about 100 Hollywood entertainers took off today to take Christmas cheer to U.S. military bases throughout the world.

Buddy Rogers and Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom headed a unit bound for Europe; Johnny Grant and Roscoe Ates headed groups which will tour the Far East; and Ben Yost was in charge of an Alaskan unit.

The other groups headed for North Africa, the mid-Pacific and the Northeast Air Command which includes Newfoundland, Labrador and Greenland.

Husband Of Queen's Cousin Found Dead

CASTLEBLAYNEY, Ireland, Dec. 16 (AP)—John Michael Blair, 30, husband of a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, was found shot dead today in a bedroom at the stately old Lough Bawn House.

A shotgun was at his side.

Blair was an overnight guest of Mrs. Ruth Tennyson at the lonely Irish estate not far from the border of Northern Ireland.

Blair's wife, Lady Nancy, 37, one of Princess Margaret's closest friends, was not staying at the house. She was not at her home in London tonight and neighbors said they had not seen her for two or three weeks.

Police said an inquest will be held tomorrow.

Senator Would Impeach Court

FLORENCE, S. C., Dec. 16 (AP) — Sen. Thurmond (D-SC), the 1948 States Rights Democratic candidate for president, says he is ready to vote to impeach every member of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Addressing the prosegregation Citizens Councils of Florence County last night, Thurmond attacked the court for its ruling that racially segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

A member of the audience, P.M. Norton of Florence, asked Thurmond:

"Is there any place in the Constitution giving the people themselves a way to impeach the Supreme Court?"

"No," Thurmond replied. He explained that only Congress can impeach.

"But," he shouted, "I'm ready tomorrow to vote to impeach every one of them." He asserted that the antisegregation ruling was not based on law but on "sociological and psychological grounds."

Woman Named Judge

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today named Mrs. Laura Lee Courtney of Capitol Heights to replace Frank L. Anderson as a judge of the Prince Georges County Orphans Court.

Chaney Receives Five-Year Term For Fund Misuse

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP) — A former secretary of state of Maryland was sentenced to five years in prison today after he pleaded guilty to the misuse of $36,000 which belonged to the building and loan association that employed him.

The defendant, Edward G. Chaney, 42, was told by Judge Roszel C. Thomsen that the community had a right to expect more from him.

Chaney, an Annapolis lawyer, is the son of a dentist and had been prominent in civic affairs. He has been a member of the Annapolis city council and served as city counselor of Annapolis.

He served as secretary of state under former Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, who appointed him in 1946.

Chaney performed legal work for the Enterprise Building Assn. from 1949 until 1953. U. S. Atty. William F. Mosner said Chaney maintained four checking accounts in his name and one from which he drew checks in the name of the Association.

In settling loans and accepting payments on them he transferred money to his personal accounts, it was testified.

Mosner said the defendant spent Association money for his personal use. Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported about $26,000 of it had been accounted for.

Still missing, Mosner said, was some $10,000 of Association funds.

College Tuition Can't Be Prize

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 16 (AP)—A half-year's tuition at college is neither merchandise nor tangible personal property and, therefore, can't legally be offered as a prize in a raffle, Atty. Gen. John J. Bracken ruled today.

Recent legislation in Connecticut legalizes raffles under tight restrictions, one of which prohibits the offering of money as a prize.

The senior class at Fairfield University is seeking a permit to conduct a raffle with second semester tuition at the university as a prize.

Jones Is Appointed

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — Dr. Clifton R. Jones, a sociology professor at Morgan State College, was named to the Advisory Council of the Employment Security Board today to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of William I. Gosnell.

Westinghouse Offers $100 To Aid Workers' Christmas

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 16 (AP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. today offered to lend $100 cash to any striking or furloughed employe of the firm who needs money to provide "the essentials for a decent Christmas."

Production in 40 of the firm's biggest plants has been practically stalled by a strike of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the independent United Electrical Workers.

The UE called the loan offer a "nice gesture." The IUE said, "They (the company) have offered a bribe."

Neither union said specifically if it wanted its members to accept loans.

More than 50,000 workers are on strike and another 40,000 employes are furloughed or receiving only part-time work. The company says the strikers alone are losing $950,000 a day in wages.

A furloughed worker — or striker —must have lost 30 days consecutive work to qualify for the loan.

The big electric appliance firm did not comment on its own losses but other sources estimate production losses alone have passed 150 million dollars to date. That does not include maintenance costs.

Westinghouse also said it is unable to supply all of the home appliances that could be sold in the final weeks of the Christmas shopping season. Early supplies were pulled out of warehouses.

The loan offer was made by Gwilym A. Price, president and chairman of the board. He said:

"Our employes have suffered enough hardship from the strike called by the IUE and UE without having to face a completely cheerless Christmas.

"We recognize that some people may feel we are prolonging the strike by 'subsidizing' the strikers. We do not think so. We see no reason why the deadlock over terms of a union contract should mean a bleak Christmas for many thousands of children who would never quite understand why Santa passed them by."

Price said the details of handling the loans would be worked out and announced by individual plant managers.

Both unions took a dim view of the loan offer. UE said it would be better if a settlement were made. The IUE said, "It would be more in keeping with the Christmas spirit if Westinghouse were to sit down and bargain in good faith."

Both unions are pressing for wage increases under reopening clauses in present contracts. The company has offered a five-year pact which it said contains a total minimum wage increase of 23½ cents an hour.

Workers were earning an average of $2.10 an hour when the IUE called its 44,000 members out on strike Oct. 17. The UE called its strike Oct. 26. It claims 17,000 members but the company claims it represents only 10,500.

Murray To Back Stevenson's Bid For Demo Nomination

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today made public a letter in which he acknowledged a pledge of support for his presidential ambitions by Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont).

Stevenson wrote Murray, "I share your belief that the peoples' heritage has been endangered by programs which are at best short-sighted and at worst clearly indicate paramount concern for special interests."

Stevenson recalled that he had criticized the Eisenhower administration in a speech at Albuquerque, N.M., in October last year for a "giveaway" policy with respect to natural resources.

Winning Number Brings Only Death

The 28-year-old Negro was pronounced dead of stab wounds last night at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Detectives said the stabbing occurred after a pay-off was refused on a 25-cent numbers bet made by Bacote's wife, Ethel.

Mrs. Bacote went home and told her husband. And she said a short time later four men came to the house and attacked her husband, who was stabbed in the side and shoulder.

Against Power Plant

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP) — A Senate District subcommittee today came out against construction of a 100-million-dollar steam power plant in Loudoun County, Va., a short distance above Washington.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 16—(INS)—Minutes before she departed for London with her three children, Donna Reed took pen in hand and signed a six picture deal with Ed Muhl at U-I. Donna's contract calls for six pictures in six years on a non-exclusive contract. She won't be back until April so no picture has been set for her at U-I.

She'll leave her children in England, and after the holidays she'll got to Africa to co-star in "Mombassa" for her husband, Tony Owen.

Donna's reason for signing at U-I is because she was very happy making "The Benny Goodman Story" and "Backlash" with Richard Widmark, and it was vice versa with the studio.

Some of my readers are complaining that I don't write enough about Dan O'Herlihy, who is very popular with the public, not only in his motion pictures but on TV. Well, here's a story about Dan:

He feels very honored that he has been invited by the Irish government to return to his native land to star in "An Tostal Pageant," an annual spectacle based on a legendary hero of Erin. He has accepted and notified the Irish officials that he will be in Dublin in March for rehearsals. The show is presented in April.

Another reason for Dan's acceptance is that it marks the debut of his brother, Michael, as a stage director.

Ann Miller told me that when she was in San Juan, Puerto Rico, "Hit The Deck" was being advertised for a future date.

"I didn't have the good luck I had in Turkey, Egypt and Rome in being in the town at the time my picture ran," said Ann.

She said she came home thoroughly tired out from visiting all the islands, but it was an interesting experience. If she keeps on at this rate she'll see the whole world. Whenever there's a junket going on, MGM sends Annie as the good will ambassadress.

She tells me she has a dance number in "The Opposite Sex." "I'm not a very nice girl in the picture at that," she said. "I'm what you might call a witch."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Norman Taurog's best Christmas gift is a grandson born to his daughter, Mrs. Sheldon Schrager, a few days ago in Tokyo.

Broderick Crawford is very sick with flu and had to bow out of accompanying Kay to school to pick up their son Kim. Hopes for a Christmas reconciliation are still good.

Leslie Carson's ex-husband, Geordie Hormel, has accepted the inevitable and joined the Hormel meat packing business in the middle west.

Rosemarie Bowie, Robert Stack's big moment for so long, ringsiding at the Mocambo with Mortimer Hall, Ruth Roman's ex.

The most amusing sight of the week, Norma and Burt Lancaster with all five children greeting Santa Claus in a department store. Young Jimmy liked the elevator buttons better than he did Kris Kringle.

Hedy Lamaar in street clothes, still beautiful, introduced herself at the box office of "The Rose Tattoo" and was given seats for the premiere.

Bob Hope won't be home until February. But he'll fly to Iceland from London to entrtain our boys on Christmas.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Face Facts — Your Skin Needs Oiling

Skin that is dry, suffering from winter's toll of steam heat and blustering winds, deserves coddling; and you can't start too soon.

Dry skin needs replenishment of the oils that not only weather but time and washings take away each day. Even colds dry out the skin, and it's wise to oil it lavishly if you've had one recently or are in the throes of one now.

None of the preparations need be expensive. One of the finest beauty preparations — a potent emollient oil which parched skin seems to fairly "drink up"—is simply bottled and not very costly. Amber-colored, with a faint perfume fragrance, it leaves the skin soft and smooth after the first treatment. Women like the way it makes the skin appear to be mois' . . . sort of dewy looking. They als like it because it is neither too thin nor too heavy . . . it spreads on just right.

Besides this complexion oil, you'll need a body oil. This helps to achieve a soft surface after the bath when you rub it on . . . for a soothing agent for children's chapping skin, or those who find the skin dry and itchy when they wear wool. It's good for the small fry as a preventive for future skin trouble and exposure to the cold.

Oil helps keep a soft surface after shaving the legs. Others find it a great help if used before pulling on a girdle . . . giving sort of a slip to the skin.

Also, try putting a few drops of nice bath oil in your tub each evening . . . that, too, gives back some of the oils that have been taken away during the day.

Monday—One week to go.

Trend Is Higher Despite Irregularity Of Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Irregularity was the keynote of today's stock market, but the final trend was higher.

The aircrafts and steels provided most of the strength for the longest time. Some oils shot ahead near the close. Many individual stocks were in demand.

Motors were backward throughout the session, and the railroads never did very much.

Tax selling and switching was credited with creating the irregularity.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks edged up 40 cents at $178.60. Volume came to 2,310,000 shares as compared with yesterday's 2,260,000 shares.

RKO Pictures was the day's most active issue up ¼ at 9 on 44,400 shares. The company is being merged into Atlas Corp.

It was followed by J. I. Case up ¾ at 18¾, General Motors off ⅜ at 46⅝, Sperry Rand up ½ at 26¾, and Glenn Martin up 1¾ at 39¾.

Aluminum Ltd. dropped 1¾ at 107 as it scheduled an additional cutback in production due to lessened water power in the coming year.

Among advancing stocks were U. S. Steel up ⅝, Boeing 1⅛, Douglas Aircraft 1½, General Electric 1¼, Schering 2⅛, Merck ¾, Union Pacific 2½, Baltimore & Ohio ¼, Standard Oil (NJ) 1⅝, Socony Mobile 3¼, Pan American Airways ½, and Johns-Manville 1¼.

Lower stocks included Chrysler off ½, Studebaker - Packard ⅜, Goodyear!, RCA ⅛, Panhandle Eastern Pipeline 1¼, Santa Fe 1, New York Central ¼, and United Aircraft ½.

Two county officials were in Baltimore yesterday meeting with state and federal officials on matters pertaining to Allegany County.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board of county commissioners, met with Social Security Board officials and various state officials on plans for inclusion of county employs in the old-age and survivors insurance program (Social Security). He will report on his findings at Tuesday's meeting.

J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of the Allegany County Roads Department, who is in charge of distributing surplus federal food for the commisioners, conferred with officials of the State Department of Procurement and Budget on the surplus food program. He also will report Tuesday.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Dec. 16—(INS)—Ireland in the United Nations? This is going to set a lot better with the pundits along Third Avenue's better bistros. Sure, and it will elevate the oratory at the nearby headquarters of the world organization, where the great winds blow in five languages.

The only thing that now remains to be seen is whether the Irish accept the invitation. They're a proud people and they read their newspapers and listen to their radio. They won't be forgetting, man and boy, what those haythun Rooshians have been saying about them through the years—whenever their name came up for membership.

"We will never permit Ireland to be a member of the United Nations," that blaggard Gromyko said years ago. "Ireland maintained diplomatic relations with Germany during the great war. It did not lift a hand to help the great allies."

It was the representative from El Salvador, or some such, who would not let that slander pass unnoticed. He rose with all the dignity of Daniel O'Connell, himself, and said, "You forget that Russia did more than maintain diplomatic relations with Hitler; that it was Hitler's partner in the conquest of our sister member Poland; that it maintained diplomatic relations with Japan until the last week of the war; that it never lifted a finger to help the Americans in their war against that country."

Gromyko fell into a five-language funk. He may have to apologize before representatives of the brave lads who populated armies from the Baltic to Dakar march in four abreast, a brief case in one hand an' a shillelagh in the other.

Can the chained of the world ever want again for a spokesman when the Irish take the floor in U. N.? Indeed, there's every reason to believe that the first move made by the Irish in U. N. will be a demand for the return, from perfidjous Albion of the six counties of Ulster that constitute Northern Ireland. The demand will not be made, you can be sure, by an Irish tenor. This one will rattle every window in the great secretariat building on our East River—the same that Lord Beaverbrook viewed recently, ablaze in the middle of the night, and swore, "My God! What a waste of electricity."

The World Almanac has perhaps the ablest brief account of "Poblacht Na H'Eireann:

"Ireland, an island in the Atlantic Ocean near the European mainland, is a sovereign, independent republic separated from Great Britain on the east by the Irish Sea and the North Channel and on the southeast by St. George's Channel."

You can say that again, buster.

But before the galleries at U. N. are packed with professional Irish-Americans, who often are more vociferously Irish than the Irish, let them heed a note just observed in the centennial edition of "Bartlett's Familiar Quotations," the bigger and better treasury of great thoughts put out by Little, Brown and Company.

It goes: "Let every man honor and love the land of his birth and the race from which he springs and keep their memory green. It is a pious and honorable duty. But let us have done with British-Americans and Irish-Americans and German-Americans, and so on, and all be Americans . . .

"If a man is going to be an American at all let him be without any qualifying adjectives, and if he is going to be something else, let him drop the word American from his personal description."

That was said in a speech on De ember 21, 1888, before the New England Society of Brooklyn. The speaker was Henry Cabot Lodge, grandfather of the present head of the U. S. delegation at U. N.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 16—(INS)—Minutes before she departed for London with her three children, Donna Reed took pen in hand and signed a six picture deal with Ed Muhl at U-I. Donna's contract calls for six pictures in six years on a non-exclusive contract. She won't be back until April so no picture has been set for her at U-I.

She'll leave her children in England, and after the holidays she'll got to Africa to co-star in "Mombassa" for her husband, Tony Owen.

Donna's reason for signing at U-I is because she was very happy making "The Benny Goodman Story" and "Backlash" with Richard Widmark, and it was vice versa with the studio.

Some of my readers are complaining that I don't write enough about Dan O'Herlihy, who is very popular with the public, not only in his motion pictures but on TV. Well, here's a story about Dan:

He feels very honored that he has been invited by the Irish government to return to his native land to star in "An Tostal Pageant," an annual spectacle based on a legendary hero of Erin. He has accepted and notified the Irish officials that he will be in Dublin in March for rehearsals. The show is presented in April.

Another reason for Dan's acceptance is that it marks the debut of his brother, Michael, as a stage director.

Ann Miller told me that when she was in San Juan, Puerto Rico, "Hit The Deck" was being advertised for a future date.

"I didn't have the good luck I had in Turkey, Egypt and Rome in being in the town at the time my picture ran," said Ann.

She said she came home thoroughly tired out from visiting all the islands, but it was an interesting experience. If she keeps on at this rate she'll see the whole world. Whenever there's a junket going on, MGM sends Annie as the good will ambassadress.

She tells me she has a dance number in "The Opposite Sex." "I'm not a very nice girl in the picture at that," she said. "I'm what you might call a witch."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Norman Taurog's best Christmas gift is a grandson born to his daughter, Mrs. Sheldon Schrager, a few days ago in Tokyo.

Broderick Crawford is very sick with flu and had to bow out of accompanying Kay to school to pick up their son Kim. Hopes for a Christmas reconciliation are still good.

Leslie Carson's ex-husband, Geordie Hormel, has accepted the inevitable and joined the Hormel meat packing business in the middle west.

Rosemarie Bowie, Robert Stack's big moment for so long, ringsiding at the Mocambo with Mortimer Hall, Ruth Roman's ex.

The most amusing sight of the week, Norma and Burt Lancaster with all five children greeting Santa Claus in a department store. Young Jimmy liked the elevator buttons better than he did Kris Kringle.

Hedy Lamaar in street clothes, still beautiful, introduced herself at the box office of "The Rose Tattoo" and was given seats for the premiere.

Bob Hope won't be home until February. But he'll fly to Iceland from London to entrtain our boys on Christmas.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Face Facts — Your Skin Needs Oiling

Skin that is dry, suffering from winter's toll of steam heat and blustering winds, deserves coddling; and you can't start too soon.

Dry skin needs replenishment of the oils that not only weather but time and washings take away each day. Even colds dry out the skin, and it's wise to oil it lavishly if you've had one recently or are in the throes of one now.

None of the preparations need be expensive. One of the finest beauty preparations — a potent emollient oil which parched skin seems to fairly "drink up"—is simply bottled and not very costly. Amber-colored, with a faint perfume fragrance, it leaves the skin soft and smooth after the first treatment. Women like the way it makes the skin appear to be moist . . . sort of dewy looking. They als like it because it is neither too thin nor too heavy . . . it spreads on just right.

Besides this complexion oil, you'll need a body oil. This helps to achieve a soft surface after the bath when you rub it on . . . for a soothing agent for children's chapping skin, or those who find the skin dry and itchy when they wear wool. It's good for the small fry as a preventive for future skin trouble and exposure to the cold.

Oil helps keep a soft surface after shaving the legs. Others find it a great help if used before pulling on a girdle . . . giving sort of a slip to the skin.

Also, try putting a few drops of nice bath oil in your tub each evening . . . that, too, gives back some of the oils that have been taken away during the day.

Monday—One week to go.

Subcontract Move Reported On Bridge

Work has been halted on the new bridge at Bloomington until the contractor and representatives of building trades unions can hold another meeting.

It was also learned from various reliable sources yesterday that the contractor, the Case Construction Company, headed by H. D. Case has asked two local construction companies to take over the project on a subcontract basis.

Trend Is Higher Despite Irregularity Of Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Irregularity was the keynote of today's stock market, but the final trend was higher.

The aircrafts and steels provided most of the strength for the longest time. Some oils shot ahead near the close. Many individual stocks were in demand.

Motors were backward throughout the session, and the railroads never did very much.

Tax selling and switching was credited with creating the irregularity.

Aluminum Ltd. dropped 1¾ at 107 as it scheduled an additional cutback in production due to lessened water power in the coming year.

He rose with all the dignity of Daniel O'Connell, himself, and said, "You forget that Russia did more than maintain diplomatic relations with Hitler; that it was Hitler's partner in the conquest of our sister member Poland; that it maintained diplomatic relations with Japan until the last week of the war; that it never lifted a finger to help the Americans in their war against that country."

Gromyko fell into a five-language funk. He may have to apologize before representatives of the brave lads who populated armies from the Baltic to Dakar march in four abreast, a brief case in one hand an' a shillelagh in the other.

Can the chained of the world ever want again for a spokesman when the Irish take the floor in U. N.? Indeed, there's every reason to believe that the first move made by the Irish in U. N. will be a demand for the return, from perfidious Albion of the six counties of Ulster that constitute Northern Ireland. The demand will not be made, you can be sure, by an Irish tenor. This one will rattle every window in the great secretariat building on our East River—the same that Lord Beaverbrook viewed recently, ablaze in the middle of the night, and swore, "My God! What a waste of electricity."

The World Almanac has perhaps the ablest brief account of "Poblacht Na H'Eireann:

"Ireland, an island in the Atlantic Ocean near the European mainland, is a sovereign, independent republic separated from Great Britain on the east by the Irish Sea and the North Channel and on the southeast by St. George's Channel."

You can say that again, buster.

But before the galleries at U. N. are packed with professional Irish-Americans, who often are more vociferously Irish than the Irish, let them heed a note just observed in the centennial edition of "Bartlett's Familiar Quotations," the bigger and better treasury of great thoughts put out by Little, Brown and Company.

It goes: "Let every man honor and love the land of his birth and the race from which he springs and keep their memory green. It is a pious and honorable duty. But let us have done with British-Americans and Irish-Americans and German-Americans, and so on, and all be Americans . . .

"If a man is going to be an American at all let him be without any qualifying adjectives, and if he is going to be something else, let him drop the word American from his personal description."

That was said in a speech on December 21, 1888, before the New England Society of Brooklyn. The speaker was Henry Cabot Lodge, grandfather of the present head of the U. S. delegation at U. N.

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.).

Christmas Musical Program At Valley "Spectacular"

LONACONING—A Christmas program of unmatched splendor was presented to an appreciative audience at Valley High School auditorium by the Music Department Thursday evening.

Comments such as, "magnificent," "never have I seen or hope to see a better Christmas program," "a beautiful performance" were heard as the combined choruses sang out "Dona Nobis Pacem" as a fitting climax.

"Gloria," a choral play, was enacted with the Prophet Priest, Donald Amoruso, and "Worshippers in the Temple," a section of the Senior choir. Then the Shepherds Donald Timney, David Weir, James Leake and Bill Schaidt appeared at a realistic bon fire talking of the birth of Jesus.

Tim Doolan, Kenneth Metz, Bobby Hyde and Martha Lewis enacted their roles very dramatically. James Moffatt, George Lauder and Charles Meese, costumed as the Three Soldiers of Herod, played their parts well.

"One Heavenly Message," the voice resounding, was that of Bill Abbott. The beautiful Madonna, Margaret McCormick, and Joseph, enacted by Ronnie Shaw, with costumes perfect for the staging, and a golden manger were spectacular.

Gerald Llewellyn, Gordon Stevenson and Joe Schlereth enacted the roles of the Three Kings, clad in green, red and purple velvet robes respectively to give their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

A spotlight on the Christ child's birth scene which enclosed the entire stage grew smaller until just the manger scene glowed at the beautiful finale of Valley High School's Christmas program.

The new blue choir robes worn by the chorus for the first time blended beautifully with the dark blue velvet stage curtain. The Boosters Club donated the robes to the Music Department.

The Ninth Grade Chorus, the Seventh and Eighth Grade Chorus, the Mixed Chorus and the choir sang a stellar presentation for the background music for the pageant.

Joseph L. Derry and Mrs. Doris B. Mitchell were complimented highly by all for their Christmas presentation and direction. Thomas P. Staup, Miss Martha McDonaldson and Mrs. Elizabeth Cooper assisted.

The program will be repeated on Wednesday, December 21, to the student body assembly prior to the school's closing for the holiday vacation until January 3.

A turkey Christmas dinner will be served on Tuesday at noon at Valley cafeteria.

Triple Lakes Garage Damaged By Fire

A fire in the garage of Henry Fouse at Triple Lakes, two miles south of Cresaptown, caused slight damage to the place shortly before 6 o'clock last night.

Two trucks and about 15 men from the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department answered but Fouse had the blaze out when they arrived, according to Chief Arthur "Bill" Winters. The chief said Fouse was burning a piece of iron with an acetylene torch. Sparks ignited a rag nearby and quickly spread to a can of thinner and paint. Fouse kept the flames from spreading and the burned thinner and paint constituted the only loss.

Winters said the department will hold a fire drill Sunday.

Damage Suit For $125,000 Removed To Frederick Co.

A $125,000 damage suit originally filed in Circuit Court here has been removed to Frederick County Circuit Court for trial.

The case resulted from permanent injuries allegedly suffered by an eight-year-old schoolboy near Hagerstown.

The suits were entered by Franklin J. Campbell, the youth, and his father, Elmer S. Campbell, Hagerstown, RD 1, against Nathan Lorenz Smith, formerly of Ellerslie, who was a Navy representative at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at the time. The suits allege that the youngster was riding in a school bus east on U. S. 40-A and near the corporate limits of Hagerstown when the bus stopped and the boy alighted and started to cross the highway to his home. It was then that he was struck by the car operated by Smith, it is alleged. Negligence on the part of the defendant is claimed.

The youngster, the suits claim, sustained a fractured bone in the skull, scalp lacerations, cerebral contusions of the brain, fracture of the leg and was permanently injured. He underwent two operations and will be crippled for the rest of his life, the declarations assert. The suit for the boy is for $100,000. The father is suing for loss of services and bills for hospital care, nurses, surgeons, etc.

The suit was ordered removed to Frederick county on motion for a change of venue filed on behalf of the defendant.

Carrier Sends Second Letter, Identifies Self

The rural mail carrier whose unsigned letter requesting repairs to DeHaven Road was tossed into the wastebasket Tuesday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners submitted a signed letter yesterday saying that Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Orr should "do the job they were elected to do."

Paul A. Martin identified himself as the author of both letters. In the first he had asked for repairs to DeHaven Road (on which Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson lives) and cutting of brush along Rocky Gap Road and Hancock Road.

"I wish to make known my identity with reference to a letter sent to the board concerning conditions of three roads on my rural route . . .," said Martin who also was critical of Lemmert and Orr.

Also received by the commissioners was another letter signed by W. H. Grove and Jeannette M. Grove opposing an increase in the assessment for their property. They said the property was in a commercial area and had "depreciated" in recent years.

Two Wills Admitted To Probate Here

The bulk of the estate was left to Dr. James R. Karns, Dr. Hugh Karns, another son; Mrs. Dorothy Ellen Oster, a daughter, and to a number of grandchildren and a step-son. Mrs. Dorothy Oster was left various household furnishings in the residence at 116 Karns Avenue.

The will of John Frederick Couter, 76, of 703 Elm Street, who died December 12, was also admitted to probate. Carroll B. Pardew, 706 Montgomery Avenue, a friend, was named executor.

Named in the will as beneficiaries were Harry R. Couter, a brother, and Idella Estella Couter, a sister. Provisions for the widow had already been made, according to the will.

Funds derived from the Christmas tree sale are used in the organization's sight conservation program.

The trees are being shipped here from Canada. It is understood the two missing cars crossed the border into New York State sometime Thursday. They were not dispatched until five days after the car which arrived here Thursday.

Port Authority Is Important To City

A special session of the Legislature has been set tentatively for the week of January 23 to consider legislation to create a statewide port authority.

The port legislation will be of vital interest to Cumberland, from the standpoint of the railroad traffic.

Today a large number of hoppers being handled by the B&O Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway through this city are loaded with iron ore. Coal and other products move eastward for loading on ships.

The ore is brought into Baltimore by ship and loaded into the cars of the two railroads.

The special session promises to be a lively session, the Associated Press observes.

Gov. McKeldin announced the date Thursday for the special session after a four-hour conference with General Assembly leaders and members of a study commission appointed by him and Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore.

McKeldin said the conference was "as important as the one that Alexander Brown called to start the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad."

The port legislation, now being drafted by Dr. Carl N. Everstine and his staff in the Department of Legislative Reference, is expected to receive clearance from the Legislative Council early next month.

The Council, between-sessions screening unit of the General Assembly, hammered it out from proposals submitted by the study commission.

Council members already have voted in favor of a port authority along these lines:

1. It would consist of five members appointed by the governor.

2. It would be given power to acquire, subject to approval by officials of Baltimore City and the counties, land by outright purchase or condemnation for improving port facilities.

3. Its initial expenses would be met by a 15-million-dollar bond issue backed by State credit.

4. Its continuing operations would be financed by a special gasoline tax of one-fourth of a cent per gallon.

McKeldin said the legislation would be sponsored by the presiding officers and both party floor leaders.

Petroleum industry and motor vehicle interests announced opposition to the gas-tax feature of the proposal as soon as it was disclosed Wednesday.

Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) also declared opposition to the levy in council meeting.

If the session is held as tentatively scheduled, during the week preceding the regular 30-day session of the Legislature, the lawmakers also must act at that time on McKeldin's vetoes of bills passed by the 1955 Legislature.

At least two of these provoked controversy and extended debate before passage.

One is Sen. Malkus' (D-Dorchester) measure to postpone for another year scheduled increases in registration fees for motor vehicles.

McKeldin vetoed an identical bill after passage by the 1954 Legislature but, faced by a strong threat to override this veto, yielded and signed a 1955 bill doing the same thing.

Another hot potato is Sen. Turnbull's (D-Balto County) measure to prevent the carrying over of all surplus revenues from one year to help balance the next year's budget. Turnbull would require any surplus over two million dollars to be used toward payment of the State's debt for building construction.

McKeldin refused to sign this into law, and the Baltimore County senator has declared he will seek to have the veto overridden.

Two wills were admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court.

The will of Mrs. Irene M. Karns, city, who died December 9 named her son, Dr. James Roscoe Karns and Harold E. Naughton, local attorney, as executors. Bond was set at $1,000.

The bulk of the estate was left to Dr. James R. Karns, Dr. Hugh Karns, another son; Mrs. Dorothy Ellen Oster, a daughter, and to a number of grandchildren and a step-son. Mrs. Dorothy Oster was left various household furnishings in the residence at 116 Karns Avenue.

The will of John Frederick Couter, 76, of 703 Elm Street, who died December 12, was also admitted to probate. Carroll B. Pardew, 706 Montgomery Avenue, a friend, was named executor.

Named in the will as beneficiaries were Harry R. Couter, a brother, and Idella Estella Couter, a sister. Provisions for the widow had already been made, according to the will.

Sale Of Christmas Trees Being Held By Local Lions

The sale of Christmas trees by the Cumberland Lions Club started yesterday at Salem Street, next to the State Armory with only one carload of the trees ordered on hand.

Club officials said three carloads of trees had been ordered, but two of them have been delayed in transit. The cars are being traced by railroad officials and it is hoped they will arrive in time for the sale.

Funds derived from the Christmas tree sale are used in the organization's sight conservation program.

The trees are being shipped here from Canada. It is understood the two missing cars crossed the border into New York State sometime Thursday. They were not dispatched until five days after the car which arrived here Thursday.

Christmas Program Planned By Choir

The Adult Choir of econd Baptist Church will present its Christmas musical program Sunday at 8 p. m., according to Rev. Cornelius B. Davis, pastor.

The group is under the direction of Miss Grace Swanson and will wear maroon robes and carry candles during the program. The Girls Choral Choir of the church will sing several songs and Allen J. Beck will be narrator.

The choir is composed of Mrs. Paul England, Mrs. Mildred England, Mrs. Shirley England, Mrs. Mary Knippenberg, Mrs. Margaret Robinson, Mrs. Annabelle Stevenson and Miss Anna Marie Tipton, sopranos; Mrs. Margaret Grove, Mrs. Merdith Shyrock and Miss Elizabeth Tipton, altos; Kermit England and Leon England, tenors, and Merdith Shyrock and Fugene Knippenberg, basses.

Port Authority Is Important To City

A special session of the Legislature has been set tentatively for the week of January 23 to consider legislation to create a statewide port authority.

The port legislation will be of vital interest to Cumberland, from the standpoint of the railroad traffic.

Today a large number of hoppers being handled by the B&O Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway through this city are loaded with iron ore. Coal and other products move eastward for loading on ships.

The ore is brought into Baltimore by ship and loaded into the cars of the two railroads.

The special session promises to be a lively session, the Associated Press observes.

Gov. McKeldin announced the date Thursday for the special session after a four-hour conference with General Assembly leaders and members of a study commission appointed by him and Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore.

McKeldin said the conference was "as important as the one that Alexander Brown called to start the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad."

The port legislation, now being drafted by Dr. Carl N. Everstine and his staff in the Department of Legislative Reference, is expected to receive clearance from the Legislative Council early next month.

The Council, between-sessions screening unit of the General Assembly, hammered it out from proposals submitted by the study commission.

Council members already have voted in favor of a port authority along these lines:

1. It would consist of five members appointed by the governor.

2. It would be given power to acquire, subject to approval by officials of Baltimore City and the counties, land by outright purchase or condemnation for improving port facilities.

3. Its initial expenses would be met by a 15-million-dollar bond issue backed by State credit.

4. Its continuing operations would be financed by a special gasoline tax of one-fourth of a cent per gallon.

McKeldin said the legislation would be sponsored by the presiding officers and both party floor leaders.

Petroleum industry and motor vehicle interests announced opposition to the gas-tax feature of the proposal as soon as it was disclosed Wednesday.

Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) also declared opposition to the levy in council meeting.

If the session is held as tentatively scheduled, during the week preceding the regular 30-day session of the Legislature, the lawmakers also must act at that time on McKeldin's vetoes of bills passed by the 1955 Legislature.

At least two of these provoked controversy and extended debate before passage.

One is Sen. Malkus' (D-Dorchester) measure to postpone for another year scheduled increases in registration fees for motor vehicles.

McKeldin vetoed an identical bill after passage by the 1954 Legislature but, faced by a strong threat to override this veto, yielded and signed a 1955 bill doing the same thing.

Another hot potato is Sen. Turnbull's (D-Balto County) measure to prevent the carrying over of all surplus revenues from one year to help balance the next year's budget. Turnbull would require any surplus over two million dollars to be used toward payment of the State's debt for building construction.

McKeldin refused to sign this into law, and the Baltimore County senator has declared he will seek to have the veto overridden.

ICBM Development To Be Speeded Up

Reports from Washington make it clear that the administration has embarked on a new program to speed work on the development of long range missiles—the so-called IRBM, or intermediate range ballistic missile, and the ICBM, or intercontinental ballistic missile. The reason given sounds more ominous than the decision itself.

It was that information had reached Washington to the effect that the Russians now have a giant rocket with a range of 600 to 800 miles. If that is true — and it appeared that government experts were inclined to believe that it could be true—then the Russians already have a successful IRBM.

If so, launching platforms in East Germany could be used to land nuclear bombs on Britain. And if such a weapon already exists, the time may not be far off when the Soviet will have a rocket capable of traveling 5,000 miles at speeds of from 12,000 to 18,000 miles an hour.

A weapon of that type in the hands of unfriendly Russia would pose a fearsome threat for the United States. There would be no way to prevent a surprise attack, for there would be no way to get at the launching platforms. Neither is there any known way to intercept such a missile. And a nuclear bomb that lands on its target destroys whatever it hits.

However, the intercontinental weapon is still in the future. Experts apparently think that the United States has until at least 1958 and possibly until 1965 to develop one. And they also seem to think that the United States is not necessarily behind Russia in this race and in some respects is probably out in front.

They doubt that the Soviet has anything to compare with U. S. ship-launched missiles and naval anti-aircraft missiles or the Army's Nike, or ground-to-air weapon. These American weapons are not in the long range area but they are operational, and the Russians seemingly have yet to match them.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Matter Of Opinion

Immigration has been, throughout our history, precisely what is meant by the word, the migration of individuals to the United States from other countries. When we needed people to populate our country, immigration was encouraged. That is how the ancestors of all of us came here from somewhere in Europe, Asia, or Africa.

Now along comes Senator Clifford Case of New Jersey with a new theory. He said:

"We no longer are able to think of our immigration policies as an isolated question of internal concern alone. What we do is watched by the world. It is still another arm of our foreign policy."

Let us analyze what this means. According to Senator Case's notion, the needs and welfare of the United States have ceased to be important. What we Americans believe to be true about the United States does not matter but what Krishna Menon, who bedevils us, thinks is of paramount importance. Shall we admit a million or two Hindus to the United States just to prove to Nehru that we do not suffer from race prejudice as Dr. Malan does in South Africa? Or, shall we admit a million Italians every year because Italy is overcrowded and needs to get rid of part of its population?

Senator Case has obviously not thought out the ultimate consequences of his statement. Immigration cannot possibly be an arm of our foreign policy because it is essentially domestic—a question of the size and nature of our population, the need for workers in agriculture or industry. True, Italy would like to export tailors or chefs to improve our appearance and our digestion, but do we need more tailors and chefs?

What do we require to improve the productivity of our population? At present, shortages are in unexpected areas. We are short of engineers, chemists, mathematicians, policemen, teachers. From what countries are we to import such persons?

The Russians, with rare foresight, got hold of engineers and scientists, immediately after World War II, principally from Germany. They did remarkably well by themselves with these highly-trained, experienced Germans whom we rejected because they had been Nazis or were associated with Nazis.

We let some of the best minds in Europe fall into the hands of our enemies when we might have found them useful to us.

I should imagine that Senator Case and such will view this with horror and alarm, but is it not worse for us that the Russians have been able to develop the H-bomb, the Schnorkel submarine, the guided missile, because of these German scientists? The country needs brains; we can supply our own machinery. The proof that we need trained brains is obvious in the fact that we have such a shortage of engineers; there is no shortage of politicians.

No law is immutable in the United States. We are neither Persians nor Medes. It is obvious that some day the McCarran-Walter Act will be revised, amended, rewritten, as every law is, from time to time. For years, labor leaders and ADAers have demanded the amendment or even repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act but whenever they have controlled Congress, as, for instance, its most recent session, they have avoided the subject.

If Senator Case wishes to establish his sincerity, why does he not bring in a revision of the McCarran-Walter Act? Senators Ives and Saltonstall and Case brought up some kind of measure but it was inadequate and nothing was done about it. What Case urges is that 1950 instead of 1920 be used as a base for the national origins quota. This does not meet our problem. It may get the senators a few additional votes on election day.

But this question of immigration is too important, too complex to be settled either to please emotionally excited groups in this country or the need of politicians to gather batches of votes. It is part of our problem of national survival as a free people. It is part of our problem of maintaining our civilization.

To some, many of them Americans of old lineage, it is not important to save the distinctive American civilization; what does seem important is that we should kowtow to every currently neutralist country so that some of them might turn their smirking countenances toward us. It is this conflict of view that may be resolved in the election of 1956.

Handy Road Map

Eisenhower Finds Leaders Of Both Parties In Good Humor At Meeting

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — As befits a pre-Christmas meeting, all was calm at the President's powwow with Republican and Democratic congressional leaders this week. A spirit of bipartisan harmony prevailed.

President Eisenhower even managed to keep his occasional joshing on a bipartisan level, poking a little fun at both a Democrat, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, and a Republican, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, during the course of the three-hour meeting.

On the serious side, Dulles gave the congressional chiefs a lengthy, detailed report on conditions in Europe, the Middle and the Far East. He also reported that "every conceivable effort" was being made and would continue to be made to free 19 Americans still held prisoners by the Chinese Communists.

He declared that Russia's post-Geneva policy of offering economic and military aid to needy countries presented as many problems "for them as for us."

"They may overreach themselves," he said.

He promised that the United States would counter Soviet aid if these countries appear to be in danger of going Communist. Dulles specifically blasted what he called the "open and blatant Russian effort to penetrate the Middle East."

Asked about Communist activity in Southeastern Asia, the secretary of state replied: "The situation in that area is still troublesome. But in my opinion it's better now than a year ago."

As Dulles finished his report, based on personal observation in various parts of the globe, Eisenhower caused chuckles by dryly remarking: "With all the traveling you've done, Foster, somebody ought to give you a license to be an aviator."

On doctors' advice Ike took a 10-minute break about 10 o'clock, as the meeting was half over; also did no wholesale handshaking with all his callers — there were about 50 present.

As he entered the big cabinet room, the President explained:

"I would like to shake hands with all of your — but it's been barred."

Spotting Texas Sen. Lyndon Johnson, however, he said, "It's good to see you, Lyndon. You and I are members of the same club."

The President made a personal pitch for a greater propaganda effort overseas.

"The most important battle coming up," he said, "is the battle for men's minds."

Warning that we can't afford to lose this battle, he announced that the U.S. Information Service's budget would be increased from $79,000,000 to $130,000,000.

It was unusual, he acknowledged, to practically double one agency's budget. But he assured congressional leaders that the situation warranted it. He didn't mention that it was Senator McCarthy who almost wrecked our propaganda effort: that the USIS still hasn't recovered from McCarthy's wild attacks.

Secretary of Defense Wilson briefed congressional leaders on defense spending, which he announced would be boosted next fiscal year by $1,000,000,000. The figure he used for the total defense budget was $35,570,000,000. He stressed that the atomic-powered aircraft carrier would not come out of this year's budget.

Wilson also proposed an interservice fund of $200,000,000, to be used for guided missiles and other new weapons as the need arises.

Holsteins From Russia

During his recent tour of Russia, Congressman Wayne Hays of Ohio visited one of the Soviet's "show place" collective farms, found it considerably below American standards in sanitation, modern equipment, and housing. The dairy and beef cattle, however, looked about the same as on a typical U.S. farm.

Pointing to a Holstein cow, Hays remarked to the farm manager: "I have some of the same breed on my own farm in Ohio."

"You have some of our great Russian cows?" asked the manager, eagerly.

"No, I said Holstein," corrected Hays. "The breed originated in Denmark."

"You are mistaken," demurred the manager. "These cows originally came from Northern Russia."

"Look, I'm a breeder and I know what I'm talking about," said Hays. "The proper name of these cattle is Holstein-Friesian. They were first bred in Denmark. Mine and yours both."

With a bored expression, the Soviet manager turned to Hays' interpreter and declared: "Tell him that maybe his cattle came from Denmark but these are Russian."

The manager next pointed out some white-faced Hereford cows, bred originally in England, and inquired if Hays could identify them.

"Yes, I can, but I'll ask you anyhow," replied Hays with a grin. He wasn't surprised when told that the Herefords were "Russian white faces."

Hoover Jr. Rules

John Foster Dulles has been traveling so fast he has no idea about some of the things going on inside the State Department. He has even left two vital decisions to his undersecretary, Herbert Hoover Jr.

This might be all right if important policy matters were being reviewed by the President. But with Eisenhower semi-out-of-touch, vital decisions are being made today at very low levels.

For instance, Hoover Jr. has just decided that the atomic reactor school which the United States promised to set up in Southeast Asia will be located in the Philippines instead of Ceylon.

He has also decided that no additional money shall be spent in the Middle East.

U. N. Becomes Another "Log-Rolling" Organization

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The United Nations has revealed itself as just another "log-rolling" organization, with less regard for principle and morality than for political expediency. It's a blow from which the organization may never recover. For, once respect is lost, it is rarely regained.

The controversy over admitting new members was on the same low plane that one would find in Tammany Hall in New York City or in the "smoke-filled rooms" of political conventions where "deals" and "packages" are manipulated with all the artful barter and selfishness of the market place.

Nationalist China Criticized

Nationalist China alone, by her veto of Outer Mongolia, stood out as the courageous champion of morality. Yet it is a sign of the decadence of the times that newspaper dispatches are telling already of the intention of some governments to punish the Nationalist government next year and give her seat in the United Nations to unmoral Red China just because the Nationalist delegate didn't bow to expediency.

The day that Red China goes in the U. N., the demand for America to step out will be resumed. For it was Red China's murderous commanders who in Korea helped to bring about the death of 33,000 American boys and the wounding of 110,000 others. The same U. N. which declared Red China an aggressor now is reported to be ready to take that regime unto its bosom.

But the amazing thing is the way that supposed champions of virtue —those who extol the U.N. as the last word in international morality — are themselves surrendering principle and rejoicing that Soviet Russia did finally condescend to let 16 members come into the organization. The cry is for "universality" at any cost, as if numbers rather than the qualifications of the members to carry out the obligations of the U. N. charter were the real criterion of effectiveness.

It was Sir Percy Spender, of Australia, who, with startling frankness, said the other day: "It is not principle with which we are concerned here but expediency — the expediency of inexorable political circumstances."

Moral Force Deteriorated

This then is the new doctrine of the U. N. which in all the schools and colleges of America has heretofore been praised as the paragon of international virtue and as the last great hope of civilization to settle its disputes.

Having failed to command universal support for armed intervention to repel the aggressor in Korea, the United Nations has since been compelled to rely primarily on moral force. But even this moral force now has deteriorated. For there can be no respect throughout the world for an organization that violates its own principles of law and order. The court of International Justice, for example, in an advisory opinion sought by the U. N. itself ruled in 1948 that "package deals" are illegal and that admission must be on individual merits of the member rather than dependent or conditioned on the acceptance of other members.

All this now has been brushed aside and the new slogan seems to be "numbers for numbers' sake."

Under such circumstances, it is logical for the United States now to ask that all its 48 states be admitted to the U. N. It would augment the number of members considerably. After all, each of the 48 states is "sovereign" and, while the charter uses the term "sovereign equality," there is no inclination today in the U. N. to examine the qualifications of members too carefully. Also it would solve the controversy here over the Bricker Amendment, for if the various subsidiary bodies of the U. N. are to make treaties or agreements binding this country on certain domestic affairs, at least each of the 48 states would have some sort of opportunity to veto such legislation.

Britain Fares Well

If Outer Mongolia, which was a part of Red China, is to be a member—and Russia now insists that Outer Mongolia must be admitted or else Japan can't be admitted—then it does seem that a case can be made also for British Columbia or Quebec or Ontario, though the British government seems to have fared pretty well in voting strength with such sympathetic partners as Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and the Union of South Africa already members of the U. N.

Only the United States among the major powers has been left with a single vote. For in due time Soviet Russia will want more of her provinces admitted, just as were the Ukraine and Byelorussia Some day, ifr Red China does come into the U. N., she will demand that Inner Mongolia be accepted to balance Outer Mongolia. And so the game goes — the great hope of mankind for a union of peace-loving organizations with a devotion to idealism, instead of to materialism, has been crushed under an avalanche of brazen "deals" and "packages" set loose by unmoral politicians.

You're Telling Me!

The caretaker of a public bus garage at Winlaton, England, insists the place is haunted by ghosts who toss stones at each other. Must be pretty modern-minded spectres, to prefer a motor car depot to a moldy old castle.

What we'd like to know is how come the stones are in the bus garage in the first place?

Temper Tantrums Stem From Varying Causes

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

We like to brag about the good things our children do, but the bad we try to forget. The temper tantrum staged on the sidewalk belongs in thel atter category. I always feel sorry for a mother carrying a sack of groceries in her left arm and dragging a screaming, kicking tot with the other. At a time like this, it is only natural to mutter, "Wait until I get you home, young man."

The intelligent mother usually closes her eyes to the incident because it is better disregarded than punished. This form of behavior problem is an unconscious rebellion against growing up. The toddler is not ready for the next step in development. He is unwilling to be left with a sitter or to behave like a little angel when walking through a super market or passing a water puddle.

Now and then the temper tantrum is traced to a feeling of insecurity. Tommy gets the attention he desires by raising a rumpus. The demanding attitude of the tyke may lie dormant until the sitter arrives on Saturday night when Dad and Mom are ready to leave. Tommy is old enough to realize they are going out and resents the separation.

Temper tantrums often coincide with learning to walk and talk. Punishment is of little value when the outburst represents a stage of development. It may aggravate the situation and occasionally lays the foundation for a defiant attitude that persists into later childhood.

On the other hand, when the little fellow uses the tantrum to get what he wants, the parents may be forced to change their tactics. A few pats in the right place may solve the problem. In this respect, the outburst is comparable to the crying spell employed by the infant to get attention.

Other behavior problems of this age group include hair pulling, biting, and pushing. In some instances, the aggressive contact is an honest attempt at friendliness or exploration. The youngster is not trying to be mean and does not realize what he is doing. Rudeness of this type also may be a primitive expression of unhappiness, guilt, anger, or worry.

Regardless of the cause, the problem usually disappears when the child learns to behave in a socially acceptable fashion. This is not done by biting him in turn or by forcing the culprit to apologize. It is better to prevent him from hurting others through diversion or separation.

Let him waste his energy on toys that can be pounded, kicked, or pulled apart. When the practice of kicking or biting other boys and girls persists beyond age 4, it may be necessary to ask a physician's aid as these youngsters are unhappy or worried or they feel guilty or insecure.

Remotely. The theory of focal infection as a cause of arthritis is not as popular as it once was.

REPLY

I doubt if many diseases are transmitted by handling money but it is dirty. This means you ought to wash your hands periodically, particularly before eating. Alcohol is not needed as soap and water are more convenient and easier on the skin.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A famous reverend in New Zealand was Norman MacLeod who led a pioneering group of 600 Scotsmen to the new land a nundred years ago. He was 70 himself at the time, but possessed of all his vigor and strength. No man for frivolity, he threw any bagpipes on board into the sea the moment he found them. A few were smuggled in despite him.

At the age of 88, Rev. MacLeod caught an unfortunate member of his congregation napping during his sermon. "If ye cannot hearr the worrds of the Lorrd," he roared, "then ye shall feel them," and he threw the Bible unerringly at the sinner's head.

"A bargain today," observes Elder Stateman Bernard Baruch, "is anything you can buy at yesterday's prices."

A Christmas Phantasy

By Brother Barnabas

Are you ready for Christmas? is a question that is frequently asked, having in mind the remaining shopping days in which to buy, de-luxe-wrap and deliver your gifts. Your answer may be yes, no, or maybe so.

But the question goes deeper than that. Are you yourself ready for the Advent? Have you made your novena? Have you shriven your soul? Are you expectant of His Coming?

Christmas requires preparation. You can't wave a wand, and "Presto!" the joy bells will begin to ring in your heart. You must be conditioned. Otherwise the day may come and go and you will never know how close you were to a theophany.

Symbol Is A Babe

You can invite the spirit of Christmas, or you can steel against it. Its symbol is a Babe, and the Babe was wrapped in swaddling clothes stitched by loving hands. The villain had to be out-Heroded. The Child had to be nourished and nurtured. All this required time and love and vigilance.

It is not easy to go back 19 centuries in imagination to the primitive simplicities that surrounded the Birth of the Christ child.

The accretions that have grown up around the Nativity during the intervening years have dimmed our eyes so that we can hardly see the Star of Bethlehem beyond the razzle dazzle.

The Yule log, holly and mistletoe are relics of pagan observances dating back to the Middle Ages.

We owe our jolly old Santa Claus to the Dutch. He is none other than St. Nicholas, the patron saint of children.

In England and America the little folks hang up their stockings in a row before the fireplace, and Santa Claus, we are told, rushing down from the north in a sled drawn by reindeer, scrambles down the chimneys and fills them from the great pack on his back. Remember?

"Backward, turn backward, O
Time in your flight,

Study In Contrasts

If I were a Murillo I should like to paint a picture entitled "A Study in Contrasts" showing how far we have come from the naive genre of the First Christmas to the sophistication of the present one.

Instead of traveling muleback to the "Little Town of Bethlehem to watch the silent stars go by" we take a Pullman or a plane to the city, putting up in a palatial motel, and spending much time watching the Hollywood stars perform or the chorines scintillate.

There was no room in the inn, not even in an emergency. Now, enciente women in travail are rushed to the hospital in an ambulance where skilled obstetricians and practiced nurses assist the mother in bringing forth her child. There may be two, three or four at one parturition.

They are cheaper by the dozen, and some obstetricians have a standing order on a yearly basis.

A city at this season, and especially this year, is a regular pandemonium. I found it so last week. It was like a champagne bottle with the cork pulled out. (I quote).

Everybody was jostling everybody else, and the only privacy one could enjoy was in a telephone booth.

Heart Is Love

I got a new slant on Christmas there. There is a hysteria about the occasion in whose orbit we may be caught up if our guards are not up.

And the heart of Christmas is love. Without it the costliest gift is sordid. Your little girl is happy with her rag doll and her tea-set blue, until she learns from her elders to look a gift horse in the mouth a thing she should not do. Then she will cry with disappointment when she doesn't find in her stocking Christmas morning a gold necklace or a diamond ring.

There is in life something more precious than rubies and it is within the reach of everybody, rich or poor.

A king gave one of his favorite couriers a gold cup. To another he gave but a kiss. Whereupon Cleanthus said, "O king, the cup you gave me is not so good gold as the kiss you gave Artabazus."

A beloved bishop was visited on his 80th birthday by a group of women of his parish. One of them said, "Bishop, I want to kiss you on your birthday." "Go ahead," said the receptive prelate.

After her gracious salute he replied: "Seventy-nine more please!"

ICBM Development To Be Speeded Up

Reports from Washington make it clear that the administration has embarked on a new program to speed work on the development of long range missiles—the so-called IRBM, or intermediate range ballistic missile, and the ICBM, or intercontinental ballistic missile. The reason given sounds more ominous than the decision itself.

It was that information had reached Washington to the effect that the Russians now have a giant rocket with a range of 600 to 800 miles. If that is true—and it appeared that government experts were inclined to believe that it could be true—then the Russians already have a successful IRBM.

If so, launching platforms in East Germany could be used to land nuclear bombs on Britain. And if such a weapon already exists, the time may not be far off when the Soviet will have a rocket capable of traveling 5,000 miles at speeds of from 12,000 to 18,000 miles an hour.

A weapon of that type in the hands of unfriendly Russia would pose a fearsome threat for the United States. There would be no way to prevent a surprise attack, for there would be no way to get at the launching platforms. Neither is there any known way to intercept such a missile. And a nuclear bomb that lands on its target destroys whatever it hits.

However, the intercontinental weapon is still in the future. Experts apparently think that the United States has until at least 1958 and possibly until 1965 to develop one. And they also seem to think that the United States is not necessarily behind Russia in this race and in some respects is probably out in front.

They doubt that the Soviet has anything to compare with U. S. ship-launched missiles and naval anti-aircraft missiles or the Army's Nike, or ground-to-air weapon. These American weapons are not in the long range area but they are operational, and the Russians seemingly have yet to match them.

Handy Road Map

Eisenhower Finds Leaders Of Both Parties In Good Humor At Meeting

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — As befits a pre-Christmas meeting, all was calm at the President's powwow with Republican and Democratic congressional leaders this week. A spirit of bipartisan harmony prevailed.

President Eisenhower even managed to keep his occasional joshing on a bipartisan level, poking a little fun at both a Democrat, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, and a Republican, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, during the course of the three-hour meeting.

On the serious side, Dulles gave the congressional chiefs a lengthy, detailed report on conditions in Europe, the Middle and the Far East. He also reported that "every conceivable effort" was being made and would continue to be made to free 19 Americans still held prisoners by the Chinese Communists.

He declared that Russia's post-Geneva policy of offering economic and military aid to needy countries presented as many problems "for them as for us."

"They may overreach themselves," he said.

He promised that the United States would counter Soviet aid if these countries appear to be in danger of going Communist. Dulles specifically blasted what he called the "open and blatant Russian effort to penetrate the Middle East."

Asked about Communist activity in Southeastern Asia, the secretary of state replied: "The situation in that area is still troublesome. But in my opinion it's better now than a year ago."

As Dulles finished his report, based on personal observation in various parts of the globe, Eisenhower caused chuckles by dryly remarking: "With all the traveling you've done, Foster, somebody ought to give you a license to be an aviator."

On doctors' advice Ike took a 10-minute break about 10 o'clock, as the meeting was half over; also did no wholesale handshaking with all his callers — there were about 50 present.

As he entered the big cabinet room, the President explained:

"I would like to shake hands with all of your — but it's been barred."

Spotting Texas Sen. Lyndon Johnson, however, he said, "It's good to see you, Lyndon. You and I are members of the same club."

The President made a personal pitch for a greater propaganda effort overseas.

"The most important battle coming up," he said, "is the battle for men's minds."

Warning that we can't afford to lose this battle, he announced that the U.S. Information Service's budget would be increased from $79,000,000 to $130,000,000.

It was unusual, he acknowledged, to practically double one agency's budget. But he assured congressional leaders that the situation warranted it. He didn't mention that it was Senator McCarthy who almost wrecked our propaganda effort: that the USIS still hasn't recovered from McCarthy's wild attacks.

Secretary of Defense Wilson briefed congressional leaders on defense spending, which he announced would be boosted next fiscal year by $1,000,000,000. The figure he used for the total defense budget was $35,570,000,000. He stressed that the atomic-powered aircraft carrier would not come out of this year's budget.

Wilson also proposed an inter-service fund of $200,000,000, to be used for guided missiles and other new weapons as the need arises.

Holsteins From Russia

During his recent tour of Russia, Congressman Wayne Hays of Ohio visited one of the Soviet's "show place" collective farms, found it considerably below American standards in sanitation, modern equipment, and housing. The dairy and beef cattle, however, looked about the same as on a typical U.S. farm.

Pointing to a Holstein cow, Hays remarked to the farm manager: "I have some of the same breed on my own farm in Ohio."

"You have some of our great Russian cows?" asked the manager, eagerly.

"No, I said Holstein," corrected Hays. "The breed originated in Denmark."

"You are mistaken," demurred the manager. "These cows originally came from Northern Russia."

"Look, I'm a breeder and I know what I'm talking about," said Hays. "The proper name of these cattle is Holstein-Friesian. They were first bred in Denmark. Mine and yours both."

With a bored expression, the Soviet manager turned to Hays' interpreter and declared: "Tell him that maybe his cattle came from Denmark but these are Russian."

The manager next pointed out some white-faced Hereford cows, bred originally in England, and inquired if Hays could identify them.

"Yes, I can, but I'll ask you anyhow," replied Hays with a grin. He wasn't surprised when told that the Herefords were "Russian white faces."

Hoover Jr. Rules

John Foster Dulles has been traveling so fast he has no idea about some of the things going on inside the State Department. He has even left two vital decisions to his undersecretary, Herbert Hoover Jr.

This might be all right if important policy matters were being reviewed by the President. But with Eisenhower semi-out-of-touch, vital decisions are being made today at very low levels.

For instance, Hoover Jr. has just decided that the atomic reactor school which the United States promised to set up in Southeast Asia will be located in the Philippines instead of Ceylon.

He has also decided that no additional money shall be spent in the Middle East.

U. N. Becomes Another "Log-Rolling" Organization

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The United Nations has revealed itself as just another "log-rolling" organization, with less regard for principle and morality than for political expediency. It's a blow from which the organization may never recover. For, once respect is lost, it is rarely regained.

The controversy over admitting new members was on the same low plane that one would find in Tammany Hall in New York City or in the "smoke-filled rooms" of political conventions where "deals" and "packages" are manipulated with all the artful barter and selfishness of the market place.

Nationalist China Criticized

Nationalist China alone, by her veto of Outer Mongolia, stood out as the courageous champion of morality. Yet it is a sign of the decadence of the times that newspaper dispatches are telling already of the intention of some governments to punish the Nationalist government next year and give her seat in the United Nations to unmoral Red China just because the Nationalist delegate didn't bow to expediency.

The day that Red China goes in the U. N., the demand for America to step out will be resumed. For it was Red China's murderous commanders who in Korea helped to bring about the death of 33,000 American boys and the wounding of 110,000 others. The same U. N. which declared Red China an aggressor now is reported to be ready to take that regime unto its bosom.

But the amazing thing is the way that supposed champions of virtue—those who extol the U.N. as the last word in international morality — are themselves surrendering principle and rejoicing that Soviet Russia did finally condescend to let 16 members come into the organization. The cry is for "universality" at any cost, as if numbers rather than the qualifications of the members to carry out the obligations of the U. N. charter were the real criterion of effectiveness.

It was Sir Percy Spender, of Australia, who, with startling frankness, said the other day: "It is not principle with which we are concerned here but expediency — the expediency of inexorable political circumstances."

Moral Force Deteriorated

This then is the new doctrine of the U. N. which in all the schools and colleges of America has heretofore been praised as the paragon of international virtue and as the last great hope of civilization to settle its disputes.

Having failed to command universal support for armed intervention to repel the aggressor in Korea, the United Nations has since been compelled to rely primarily on moral force. But even this moral force now has deteriorated. For there can be no respect throughout the world for an organization that violates its own principles of law and order. The court of International Justice, for example, in an advisory opinion sought by the U. N. itself ruled in 1948 that "package deals" are illegal and that admission must be on individual merits of the member rather than dependent or conditioned on the acceptance of other members.

All this now has been brushed aside and the new slogan seems to be "numbers for numbers' sake."

Under such circumstances, it is logical for the United States now to ask that all its 48 states be admitted to the U. N. It would augment the number of members considerably. After all, each of the 48 states is "sovereign" and, while the charter uses the term "sovereign equality," there is no inclination today in the U. N. to examine the qualifications of members too carefully. Also it would solve the controversy here over the Bricker Amendment, for if the various subsidiary bodies of the U. N. are to make treaties or agreements binding this country on certain domestic affairs, at least each of the 48 states would have some sort of opportunity to veto such legislation.

Britain Fares Well

If Outer Mongolia, which was a part of Red China, is to be a member—and Russia now insists that Outer Mongolia must be admitted or else Japan can't be admitted—then it does seem that a case can be made also for British Columbia or Quebec or Ontario, though the British government seems to have fared pretty well in voting strength with such sympathetic partners as Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and the Union of South Africa already members of the U. N.

Only the United States among the major powers has been left with a single vote. For in due time Soviet Russia will want more of her provinces admitted, just as were the Ukraine and Byelorussia Some day, ifr Red China does come into the U. N., she will demand that Inner Mongolia be accepted to balance Outer Mongolia. And so the game goes — the great hope of mankind for a union of peace-loving organizations with a devotion to idealism, instead of to materialism, has been crushed under an avalanche of brazen "deals" and "packages" set loose by unmoral politicians.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Matter Of Opinion

Immigration has been, throughout our history, precisely what is meant by the word, the migration of individuals to the United States from other countries. When we needed people to populate our country, immigration was encouraged. That is how the ancestors of all of us came here from somewhere in Europe, Asia, or Africa.

Now along comes Senator Clifford Case of New Jersey with a new theory. He said:

"We no longer are able to think of our immigration policies as an isolated question of internal concern alone. What we do is watched by the world. It is still another arm of our foreign policy."

Let us analyze what this means. According to Senator Case's notion, the needs and welfare of the United States have ceased to be important. What we Americans believe to be true about the United States does not matter but what Krishna Menon, who bedevils us, thinks is of paramount importance. Shall we admit a million or two Hindus to the United States just to prove to Nehru that we do not suffer from race prejudice as Dr. Malan does in South Africa? Or, shall we admit a million Italians every year because Italy is overcrowded and needs to get rid of part of its population?

Senator Case has obviously not thought out the ultimate consequences of his statement. Immigration cannot possibly be an arm of our foreign policy because it is essentially domestic—a question of the size and nature of our population, the need for workers in agriculture or industry. True, Italy would like to export tailors or chefs to improve our appearance and our digestion, but do we need more tailors and chefs?

What do we require to improve the productivity of our population? At present, shortages are in unexpected areas. We are short of engineers, chemists, mathematicians, policemen, teachers. From what countries are we to import such persons?

The Russians, with rare foresight, got hold of engineers and scientists, immediately after World War II, principally from Germany. They did remarkably well by themselves with these highly-trained, experienced Germans whom we rejected because they had been Nazis or were associated with Nazis.

We let some of the best minds in Europe fall into the hands of our enemies when we might have found them useful to us.

I should imagine that Senator Case and such will view this with horror and alarm, but is it not worse for us that the Russians have been able to develop the H-bomb, the Schnorkel submarine, the guided missile, because of these German scientists? The country needs brains; we can supply our own machinery. The proof that we need trained brains is obvious in the fact that we have such a shortage of engineers; there is no shortage of politicians.

No law is immutable in the United States. We are neither Persians nor Medes. It is obvious that some day the McCarran-Walter Act will be revised, amended, rewritten, as every law is, from time to time. For years, labor leaders and ADAers have demanded the amendment or even repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act but whenever they have controlled Congress, as, for instance, its most recent session, they have avoided the subject.

If Senator Case wishes to establish his sincerity, why does he not bring in a revision of the McCarran-Walter Act? Senators Ives and Saltonstall and Case brought up some kind of measure but it was inadequate and nothing was done about it. What Case urges is that 1950 instead of 1920 be used as a base for the national origins quota. This does not meet our problem. It may get the senators a few additional votes on election day.

But this question of immigration is too important, too complex to be settled either to please emotionally excited groups in this country or the need of politicians to gather batches of votes. It is part of our problem of national survival as a free people. It is part of our problem of maintaining our civilization.

To some, many of them Americans of old lineage, it is not important to save the distinctive American civilization; what does seem important is that we should kowtow to every currently neutralist country so that some of them might turn their smirking countenances toward us. It is this conflict of view that may be resolved in the election of 1956.

Temper Tantrums Stem From Varying Causes

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

We like to brag about the good things our children do, but the bad we try to forget. The temper tantrum staged on the sidewalk belongs in thel atter category. I always feel sorry for a mother carrying a sack of groceries in her left arm and dragging a screaming, kicking tot with the other. At a time like this, it is only natural to mutter, "Wait until I get you home, young man."

The intelligent mother usually closes her eyes to the incident because it is better disregarded than punished. This form of behavior problem is an unconscious rebellion against growing up. The toddler is not ready for the next step in development. He is unwilling to be left with a sitter or to behave like a little angel when walking through a super market or passing a water puddle.

Now and then the temper tantrum is traced to a feeling of insecurity. Tommy gets the attention he desires by raising a rumpus. The demanding attitude of the tyke may lie dormant until the sitter arrives on Saturday night when Dad and Mom are ready to leave. Tommy is old enough to realize they are going out and resents the separation.

Temper tantrums often coincide with learning to walk and talk. Punishment is of little value when the outburst represents a stage of development. It may aggravate the situation and occasionally lays the foundation for a defiant attitude that persists into later childhood.

On the other hand, when the little fellow uses the tantrum to get what he wants, the parents may be forced to change their tactics. A few pats in the right place may solve the problem. In this respect, the outburst is comparable to the crying spell employed by the infant to get attention.

Other behavior problems of this age group include hair pulling, biting, and pushing. In some instances, the aggressive contact is an honest attempt at friendliness or exploration. The youngster is not trying to be mean and does not realize what he is doing. Rudeness of this type also may be a primitive expression of unhappiness, guilt, anger, or worry.

Regardless of the cause, the problem usually disappears when the child learns to behave in a socially acceptable fashion. This is not done by biting him in turn or by forcing the culprit to apologize. It is better to prevent him from hurting others through diversion or separation.

Let him waste his energy on toys that can be pounded, kicked, or pulled apart. When the practice of kicking or biting other boys and girls persists beyond age 4, it may be necessary to ask a physician's aid as these youngsters are unhappy or worried or they feel guilty or insecure.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A famous reverend in New Zealand was Norman MacLeod who led a pioneering group of 600 Scotsmen to the new land a nundred years ago. He was 70 himself at the time, but possessed of all his vigor and strength. No man for frivolity, he threw any bagpipes on board into the sea the moment he found them. A few were smuggled in despite him.

At the age of 88, Rev. MacLeod caught an unfortunate member of his congregation napping during his sermon. "If ye cannot hearr the worrds of the Lorrd," he roared, "then ye shall feel them," and he threw the Bible unerringly at the sinner's head.

A Christmas Phantasy

By Brother Barnabas

Are you ready for Christmas? is a question that is frequently asked, having in mind the remaining shopping days in which to buy, de-luxe-wrap and deliver your gifts. Your answer may be yes, no, or maybe so.

But the question goes deeper than that. Are you yourself ready for the Advent? Have you made your novena? Have you shriven your soul? Are you expectant of His Coming?

Christmas requires preparation. You can't wave a wand, and "Presto!" the joy bells will begin to ring in your heart. You must be conditioned. Otherwise the day may come and go and you will never know how close you were to a theophany.

Symbol Is A Babe

You can invite the spirit of Christmas, or you can steel against it. Its symbol is a Babe, and the Babe was wrapped in swaddling clothes stitched by loving hands. The villain had to be out-Heroded. The Child had to be nourished and nurtured. All this required time and love and vigilance.

It is not easy to go back 19 centuries in imagination to the primitive simplicities that surrounded the Birth of the Christ child.

The accretions that have grown up around the Nativity during the intervening years have dimmed our eyes so that we can hardly see the Star of Bethlehem beyond the razzle dazzle.

The Yule log, holly and mistletoe are relics of pagan observances dating back to the Middle Ages.

We owe our jolly old Santa Claus to the Dutch. He is none other than St. Nicholas, the patron saint of children.

In England and America the little folks hang up their stockings in a row before the fireplace, and Santa Claus, we are told, rushing down from the north in a sled drawn by reindeer, scrambles down the chimneys and fills them from the great pack on his back. Remember?

"Backward, turn backward, O
Time in your flight,
Make me a child again, just for tonight."

Looking back from mature years, who does not enjoy the sweet insousiance of childhood and long with the Hoosier poet:

Parseghian Is Named Head Grid Coach At Northwestern

Miami, Ohio, Mentor Gets Saban's Job

New Coach's Teams Took Five Titles In M-A Conference

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 16 (AP) — Ara Parseghian, head football coach at Miami of Ohio, today was named head football coach at Northwestern University.

Parseghian succeeds Lou Saban. New athletic director Stu Holcomb announced a three-year contract had been given to Parseghian, who completed his fifth year at Miami last fall with an undefeated season.

Teams Won 39, Lost 6

In five years, Parseghian's teams have won 39 games, lost 6 and tied 1.

Holcomb, named athletic director at Northwestern a week ago, said he felt "we are obtaining the services of one of the finest young coaches in football today."

Parseghian is 32.

Holcomb, former head football coach at Purdue, was named athletic director to succeed Tad Payseur in a drastic athletic shakeup at Northwestern.

Last Monday, Holcomb released Saban and his entire staff. All had been hired on a one-year contract. Saban succeeded Bob Voigts, who quit early this year under alumni pressure, after coaching the Wildcat footballers for eight seasons.

All Coached At Miami

Miami of Ohio long has been a "little giant" in Midwestern football and has the reputation of spawning big time coaches. Holcomb, Woody Hayes of Ohio State and Sid Gilman of the Los Angeles Rams served at Miami.

Parseghian — pronounced Parseeg-yan was born of Armenian and French immigrant parents in Akron, Ohio. His teams have shown a great display of fundamentals and imagination.

His Miami teams have captured the Mid-American football title the five years he has coached the them.

Has Big Job Ahead

Holcomb and Parseghian conferred today at Lafayette, Ind.

Parseghian has a large job cut out for him at Northwestern which went winless last fall but managed to salvage a closing 7-7 tie with Illinois in the closing game. It was the first time Northwestern had gone without a victory in modern grid history.

Holcomb declined to disclose terms, but said Parseghian would get a "good salary" and "he's happy" with the agreement.

"Rick" Kephart scored 10 field goals for Keyser, three less than was credited to the visiting team, and contributed 20 points. Center George Wilson banged in 13 markers and Scott Ward gathered 11.

George Lauder, freshman guard, led the Valley scorers with six goals and 14 points while Ronald "Butch" Young garnered 11 tallies, including 7 out of 8 at the foul line.

Maryland Plays North Carolina

Unbeaten Tar Heels Visit College Park

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 16 (AP)—Maryland hardly will have time to recover from its 62-61 loss to Kentucky before taking on a basketball team considered by some even better, North Carolina, Saturday.

North Carolina comes to the new Maryland field house with an undefeated team in four games. Of its victims, Clemson, Georgia Tech, South Carolina and Alabama, Tech was the closest in losing by 12 points.

The Tar Heels came within one point of hitting a hundred points in beating Alabama by 22 points Wednesday.

North Carolina beat Maryland in both their games last season and is rated considerably improved.

Maryland also got some hope for being better after barely losing to Kentucky Thursday. It was the first loss in four games for the Terps.

It will be the third Atlantic Coast Conference game for both teams.

Gunners Bag 2,431 Deer In Maryland In Six-Day Season

Hunters bagged 2,431 deer with firearms during the six-day season last week and that's an all-time record.

Including the 50 deer that were taken by bow and arrow hunters in November and about 35 that will be bagged by hunters at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club, near Hancock, later this month, the 1955 kill is expected to exceed 2,500.

Last year 1,660 whitetails were slain in Maryland, including 40 by bowmen.

Garrett 608, Allegany 491, Frederick 239, Washington 235, Worcester 233, Aberdeen and Edgewood army camps 171, Cecil 99, Dorchester 77, Harford (excluding Aberdeen and Edgewood) 68, Kent 54, Baltimore 33, Wicomico 26, Somerset 23, Charles 19, Calvert 13, Queen Anne 11, Caroline 11, Talbot 11 and Carroll 9.

More counties were open to deer hunting this year than in the past, spike bucks were legal for the first time and Aberdeen had a buck and doe season.

Ted Kluszewski Is Most Feared Hitter In N. L.

25 Intentional Walks Given Redleg Belter

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Know who's the most feared batter in the National League?

He's Ted Kluszewski, first baseman of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

This was shown today in the official 1955 National League averages which, for the first time, listed intention bases on balls. Kluszewski drew 25 intentional walks, the most in the league. Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee was next with 20 and Duke Snider of Brooklyn had 19.

The circuit's slugging title went to Willie Mays of the New York Giants. He wound up with a .659 mark on 382 total bases in 580 at bats. Willie also made off with the slugging crown in 1954.

Snider finished in the runnerup spot behind Mays with a .628 average. Then came Mathews with .601, Ernie Banks of Chicago with .596 and Kluszewski with .585.

Mathews drew the highest overall bases on balls total 109. Cincinnati's Wally Post struck out the most times, 102. Don Mueller of the Giants fanned the fewest times, 18.

Banks shattered two of the 11 major league season records eclipsed in National League play. The Cubs' stalwart hit five home runs with the bases filled and the most home runs for a shortstop, 44.

Lopat To Lead Richmond Club

Virginians Name Ed As Player Manager

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 16 (AP)—ED Lopat, crafty lefthander who was a stalwart of five world championship New York Yankee teams, today was named manager of the Richmond Virginians of the Class AAA International League.

Terms of his one-year contract were not disclosed.

It will be the first managerial assignment for the 37-year-old Lopat, a major league pitcher for 12 seasons with the Yankees and Chicago White Sox.

"It's a wonderful opportunity," said the curly redhead. He will be a player manager for the team which finished last in the league the past season.

The Virginians, purchased by a syndicate of businessmen Nov. 14 from the federal tax collector for just $20,000, have a limited working agreement with the Yankees.

The government seized the club and its assets in October in lieu of back taxes and sold it at auction.

Lopat was recommended to the Virginians' front office by Yankee General Manager George Weiss.

"Steady Eddie" won 109 games for the Yankees in seven full seasons (1948-54) with a baffling assortment of slow stuff. He lost but 51.

In four years with the White Sox before being traded to New York he posted a 50-49 record. He won four World Series games, losing one.

Nashua Goes To Florida Next Week

Aims For Widener, McLennan Stakes

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—The day after Christmas, Nashua will hit the track again to begin his workouts for the campaign to smash the all-time money winning record.

Trainer "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons said today he would give the world's most expensive race horse Christmas Day off, but after that there'll be no more loafing for Nashua. Next morning, "We'll have the tack on him and start galloping."

Executors of the estate of the late William Woodward Jr. sold the horse, the champion racer of 1955, yesterday to a syndicate headed by Leslie Combs II for the world record breaking price of $1,251,200.

Combs announced that Nashua would be shipped to Hialeah, arriving here Dec. 24, and put in the capable hands of the 81-year-old Fitzsimmons. "Sunny Jim" says he'll waste no time putting Nashua back to work.

Nashua will be aimed for the $50,000 added McLennan Feb. 4 and the $100,000 Widener two weeks later. He also is eligible for the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap in California Feb. 25.

Parseghian Is Named Head Grid Coach At Northwestern

Miami, Ohio, Mentor Gets Saban's Job

New Coach's Teams Took Five Titles In M-A Conference

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 16 (AP) — Ara Parseghian, head football coach at Miami of Ohio, today was named head football coach at Northwestern University.

Parseghian succeeds Lou Saban. New athletic director Stu Holcomb announced a three-year contract had been given to Parseghian, who completed his fifth year at Miami last fall with an undefeated season.

Teams Won 39, Lost 6

In five years, Parseghian's teams have won 39 games, lost 6 and tied 1.

Holcomb, named athletic director at Northwestern a week ago, said he felt "we are obtaining the services of one of the finest young coaches in football today."

Parseghian is 32.

Holcomb, former head football coach at Purdue, was named athletic director to succeed Tad Payseur in a drastic athletic shakeup at Northwestern.

Last Monday, Holcomb released Saban and his entire staff. All had been hired on a one-year contract. Saban succeeded Bob Voigts, who quit early this year under alumni pressure, after coaching the Wildcat footballers for eight seasons.

All Coached At Miami

Miami of Ohio long has been a "little giant" in Midwestern football and has the reputation of spawning big time coaches. Holcomb, Woody Hayes of Ohio State and Sid Gilman of the Los Angeles Rams served at Miami.

Parseghian — pronounced Parseeg-yan was born of Armenian and French immigrant parents in Akron, Ohio. His teams have shown a great display of fundamentals and imagination.

His Miami teams have captured the Mid-American football title the five years he has coached them.

Has Big Job Ahead

Holcomb and Parseghian conferred today at Lafayette, Ind.

Parseghian has a large job cut out for him at Northwestern which went winless last fall but managed to salvage a closing 7-7 tie with Illinois in the closing game. It was the first time Northwestern had gone without a victory in modern grid history.

Holcomb declined to disclose terms, but said Parseghian would get a "good salary" and "he's happy" with the agreement.

Ted Kluszewski Is Most Feared Hitter In N. L.

25 Intentional Walks Given Redleg Belter

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Know who's the most feared batter in the National League?

He's Ted Kluszewski, first baseman of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

This was shown today in the official 1955 National League averages which, for the first time, listed intention bases on balls. Kluszewski drew 25 intentional walks, the most in the league. Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee was next with 20 and Duke Snider of Brooklyn had 19.

The circuit's slugging title went to Willie Mays of the New York Giants. He wound up with a .659 mark on 382 total bases in 580 at bats. Willie also made off with the slugging crown in 1954.

Snider finished in the runnerup spot behind Mays with a .628 average. Then came Mathews with .601, Ernie Banks of Chicago with .596 and Kluszewski with .585.

Mathews drew the highest overall bases on balls total 109. Cincinnati's Wally Post struck out the most times, 102. Don Mueller of the Giants fanned the fewest times, 18.

Banks shattered two of the 11 major league season records eclipsed in National League play. The Cubs' stalwart hit five home runs with the bases filled and the most home runs for a shortstop, 44.

Lopat To Lead Richmond Club

Virginians Name Ed As Player Manager

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 16 (AP)—ED Lopat, crafty lefthander who was a stalwart of five world championship New York Yankee teams, today was named manager of the Richmond Virginians of the Class AAA International League.

Terms of his one-year contract were not disclosed.

It will be the first managerial assignment for the 37-year-old Lopat, a major league pitcher for 12 seasons with the Yankees and Chicago White Sox.

"It's a wonderful opportunity," said the curly redhead. He will be a player manager for the team which finished last in the league the past season.

The Virginians, purchased by a syndicate of businessmen Nov. 14 from the federal tax collector for just $20,000, have a limited working agreement with the Yankees.

The government seized the club and its assets in October in lieu of back taxes and sold it at auction.

Lopat was recommended to the Virginians' front office by Yankee General Manager George Weiss.

"Steady Eddie" won 109 games for the Yankees in seven full seasons (1948-54) with a baffling assortment of slow stuff. He lost but 51.

In four years with the White Sox before being traded to New York he posted a 50-49 record. He won four World Series games, losing one.

Nashua Goes To Florida Next Week

Aims For Widener, McLennan Stakes

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—The day after Christmas, Nashua will hit the track again to begin his workouts for the campaign to smash the all-time money winning record.

Trainer "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons said today he would give the world's most expensive race horse Christmas Day off, but after that there'll be no more loafing for Nashua. Next morning, "We'll have the tack on him and start galloping."

Executors of the estate of the late William Woodward Jr. sold the horse, the champion racer of 1955, yesterday to a syndicate headed by Leslie Combs II for the world record breaking price of $1,251,200.

Combs announced that Nashua would be shipped to Hialeah, arriving here Dec. 24, and put in the capable hands of the 81-year-old Fitzsimmons. "Sunny Jim" says he'll waste no time putting Nashua back to work.

Nashua will be aimed for the $50,000 added McLennan Feb. 4 and the $100,000 Widener two weeks later. He also is eligible for the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap in California Feb. 25.

Carl Hartman's Record Broken By Bob Hopkins

Grambling Cager Has 3,142 Points

GRAMBLING, La., Dec. 16 (AP)—Ramblin' Bob Hopkins keeps collegiate basketball staticians scurrying because he changes the national record every time he drops in a point for Grambling College.

The 6-9 senior scored 42 points in Grambling's 103-62 victory over Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute Tuesday night to bring his collegiate total to 3,142 points. Hopkins established a new bracket for collegiate players last week when he became the first ever to hit the 3,000-point figure.

Hits Fantastic Total

Players such as Dickie Hemric of Wake Forest and Frank Selvy of Furman dominated the collegiate scoring scene in the past few years, yet neither approached the almost fantastic total produced by Hopkins.

In 104 college games, Hemric scored 2,587 points for a 24.9 per game average. Selvy hit for 2,583 in 78 games for a 32.5 average.

Hopkins has played in 106 games and shows an average of 29.6 points per game. He's hitting for a lot better than his career average this season since he has 210 points in six games, a 30-point average.

Tops Hartman's Mark

Another comparative unknown, Carl Hartman of Alderson-Broaddus, was the NCAA record holder before Hopkins smashed the standard last week. Hartman had 2,959 points in his four years of competition.

Hopkins, who carries 205 pounds on his muscular frame, would like to play professional basketball after graduation and then move into the coaching ranks. The Harlem Globetrotters are on his trail, but big Bob has his sights set on playing in the National Basketball Association. And it's a good bet several NBA teams would like to have him on the roster.

"The team doesn't matter," he says, "as long as I'm playing."

Knox May Play In Rose Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16 (AP) — Halfback Ronnie Knox of UCLA got the go-ahead today to train for the Rose Bowl game with Michigan State.

Knox broke a bone in his leg early in the Washington game five weeks ago. A gifted passer and an improving runner, he will enhance Bruin chances if he can get back into top form.

Dr. Dan Leventhal, after examining the mended leg, said:

"Ronnie's leg is in fine shape. If Coach (Red) Sanders and Dr. Walter Scott (school specialist) agree, he could play Jan. 2.

"I would have no objection to his running or passing this afternoon. But he shouldn't scrimmage or be tackled for at least a week or 10 days. And he may have difficulty punting for a while. Otherwise, I'd say he's come out of it in very fine shape."

McIntyre's Holds Single Game Lead

McIntyre's pinmen saw their lead sliced to one game in the Cities Service Dux League this week when the Sports Shoppe took three from V. F. W. via the forfeit route while the league leaders were taking a pair from Queen City Dairy.

Super Concrete moved into third place by upsetting the C. & A. Gas Company, 3-0.

Tom McGeady paced the leaders with a 234 game and 589 total. Other high scores were rolled by Charlie Stemp, Super Concrete, 194-538; Mil Dean, Sports Shoppe, 174-511; "Bub" Porter, C. & A. Gas Company, 178-483, and George Eversole, Queen City Dairy, 148-423.

The league will resume play in January. Standings:

McIntyre's	33	9	C.&A. Gas	19	20

Unbeaten Tar Heels Visit College Park

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 16 (AP)—Maryland hardly will have time to recover from its 62-61 loss to Kentucky before taking on a basketball team considered by some even better, North Carolina, Saturday.

North Carolina comes to the new Maryland field house with an undefeated team in four games. Of its victims, Clemson, Georgia Tech, South Carolina and Alabama, Tech was the closest in losing by 12 points.

The Tar Heels came within one point of hitting a hundred points in beating Alabama by 22 points Wednesday.

North Carolina beat Maryland in both their games last season and is rated considerably improved.

Maryland also got some hope for being better after barely losing to Kentucky Thursday. It was the first loss in four games for the Terps.

It will be the third Atlantic Coast Conference game for both teams.

Gunners Bag 2,431 Deer In Maryland In Six-Day Season

Hunters bagged 2,431 deer with firearms during the six-day season last week and that's an all-time record.

Including the 50 deer that were taken by bow and arrow hunters in November and about 35 that will be bagged by hunters at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club, near Hancock, later this month, the 1955 kill is expected to exceed 2,500.

Last year 1,660 whitetails were slain in Maryland, including 40 by bowmen.

Garrett 608, Allegany 491, Frederick 239, Washington 235, Worcester 233, Aberdeen and Edgewood army camps 171, Cecil 99, Dorchester 77, Harford (excluding Aberdeen and Edgewood) 68, Kent 54, Baltimore 33, Wicomico 26, Somerset 23, Charles 19, Calvert 13, Queen Anne 11, Caroline 11, Talbot 11 and Carroll 9.

More counties were open to deer hunting this year than in the past, spike bucks were legal for the first time and Aberdeen had a buck and doe season.

Warfordsburg Wins At Oldtown, 41-36

OLDTOWN, Md., Dec. 16—Oldtown High School put up a stubborn battle here tonight before going down to defeat at the hands of Warfordsburg (Pa.) High School, 41-36.

Coach Ronnie Kellough's cagers showed a big improvement over previous games and made a fight of it all the way. The Pennsylvanians led at the quarters, 14-13, 24-21 and 30-27 but the locals were ahead late in the first period and early in the second stanza.

R. Duvall sparked Warfordsburg's offensive with 16 points. John

Ridgeley Edges Fort Hill, Bobcats Upset Davis & Elkins

Nield's Layup Wins Contest; Lambert's Goal Ties Score

Fort Hill failed in their attempt to go ahead in the win column last night as they were edged by the Blackhawks of Ridgeley in the last four seconds of an overtime battle, 68-66. Elsworth Lambert tied the score with six seconds remaining in the regulation game, and Ronnie Nield sunk a layup with four seconds to go in the overtime to give the Hawks the hard earned victory.

The game took on the appearance of a thriller from the start, as neither team could take a commanding lead at any time. The West Virginians held the biggest lead, a 15-13 advantage at the quarter mark.

As most expected, it was a high scoring battle, with Ken Hartman of Ridgeley and Galen McGregor of the Sentinels the high point men. Hartman collected 29 markers, and Lambert and Nield helped out with 17 and 11. McGregor, who netted 22, was followed by Ron Detwiler and Ronnie Moreland with 16 and 11 for the Hilltoppers.

The Sentinels held a slim one point lead at the end of three periods, but with just six seconds remaining, Lambert breezed one through the hoop to knot the score. In the overtime, Fort Hill drew first blood to go ahead 62-60. From then on, the score was tied five times, and with four seconds to go in the period, Nield took a pass under the bucket and netted the winning tallies.

The win was the third in four outings for the Hawks, and the defeat dropped Fort Hill's record to 1-2.

AWARD BOXER'S WIDOW $80,000

George Flores

Mrs. Flores

AN AWARD of $80,000 has been made to Mrs. Elaine Flores, 23, widow of the late welterweight boxer, George Flores, by a New York state Court of Claims at Albany in a $500,000 suit filed by Mrs. Flores against the state for the death of her husband. Flores succumbed on September 3, 1951, four days after being knocked out in the eighth round of a return match with Roger Donoghue. Flores had been technically knocked out twice within 35 days prior to that bout. The judge who made the decision rapped the physicians who examined the fighter, saying that Flores should have been suspended and not permitted to fight. Mrs. Flores also has a $500,000 suit pending against the IBC and Madison Square Garden. (International)

BY KNOCKING OUT Carl (Bobo) Olson in a middleweight title fight in Chicago, Sugar Ray Robinson, former king of the 160-pound division, again climbs to the throne and becomes the toast of the sports world. Ray is taking it easy now, having breakfast in bed (soup at that) and looking over the field for his next bout if Olson doesn't ask for a re-match. (International)

Lightburn Gains Decision Over Dupas

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ludwig Lightburn moved forward persistently against a dancing target tonight to win a unanimous decision over Ralph Dupas of New Orleans in an interesting 10-round match at Madison Square Garden. Dupas weighed 138½, Lightburn 137¾.

So close was this match between the steady ever-onward puncher from British Honduras and the clever, 20-year-old boxer from the South that Referee Harry Kessler called it one of the closest fights he ever had to score.

Kessler, who handled the bout in capable fashion, voted 5-4-1 for Lightburn. Judge Jack Gordon scored it 6-3-1 and Judge Bert Grant 6-4, all for Lightburn. The AP card was a tight 5-4-1 for Lightburn with a flurry of punches in the final seconds deciding the issue.

Sooners Prepare For Bowl Contest

Snead Holds Stroke Lead At Sanford

Slammer Has 134 At Halfway Mark

SANFORD, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—The weather turned cold today and so did Sam Snead's putter, but the Slammer's even par 70 was good enough to give him a one-stroke lead at the halfway mark in the $15,000 Sanford Open golf tournament.

"I missed putts all over the course," Sam moaned as he walked off the windswept, chilly course. His record six-under par 64 in the opening round gave Snead a 36-hole total of 134.

Five Bunched For 2nd

Bunched in second place just one stroke back of Snead were Al Balding of Ontario, Canada, Walker Inman Jr., of Augusta, Ga., Leo Biagetti of Willoughby, Ohio, Jim Ferree of Winston-Salem N.C., and Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill.

Inman and Balding shot 66s—low score for the day. Biagetti had a 67 and Furgol and Ferree fired 68s.

The field of 125 was reduced to the 60 low scoring pros, plus ties, and 10 amateurs for the final two rounds. Pros shooting 144 or under qualified.

Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, tied for second place two strokes behind Snead after the opening round, matched Snead's 70 and finished in a four-way tie at 136.

Others in that bracket were Mike Souchak of Grossinger,'s, N.Y., Pete Cooper of Detroit and amateur Dug Sanders of Miami Beach. Sanders had a 67, Cooper and Souchak a 69 each.

Ed Furgol of St. Louis and Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., also had low 66s today and were grouped with six others at 137.

Snead Blames Cold

"Shucks," the White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, veteran said, "it was so cold out there I couldn't hold a club. And I was putting miserably."

Sam's only birdies came on two par 5 holes where he got down putts of about 18 and 30 inches.

"I three-putted the 17th for a bogey and on the two holes before that I missed short putts for birdies," Snead said in disgust.

Ridgeley Edges Fort Hill, Bobcats Upset Davis & Elkins

Nield's Layup Wins Contest; Lambert's Goal Ties Score

Fort Hill failed in their attempt to go ahead in the win column last night as they were edged by the Blackhawks of Ridgeley in the last four seconds of an overtime battle, 68-66. Elsworth Lambert tied the score with six seconds remaining in the regulation game, and Ronnie Nield sunk a layup with four seconds to go in the overtime to give the Hawks the hard earned victory.

The game took on the appearance of a thriller from the start, as neither team could take a commanding lead at any time. The West Virginians held the biggest lead, a 15-13 advantage at the quarter mark.

As most expected, it was a high scoring battle, with Ken Hartman of Ridgeley and Galen McGregor of the Sentinels the high point men. Hartman collected 29 markers, and Lambert and Nield helped out with 17 and 11. McGregor, who netted 22, was followed by Ron Detwiler and Ronnie Moreland with 16 and 11 for the Hilltoppers.

The Sentinels held a slim one point lead at the end of three periods, but with just six seconds remaining, Lambert breezed one through the hoop to knot the score. In the overtime, Fort Hill drew first blood to go ahead 62-60. From then on, the score was tied five times, and with four seconds to go in the period, Nield took a pass under the bucket and netted the winning tallies.

The win was the third in four outings for the Hawks, and the defeat dropped Fort Hill's record to 1-2.

AWARD BOXER'S WIDOW $80,000

George Flores

Mrs. Flores

AN AWARD of $80,000 has been made to Mrs. Elaine Flores, 23, widow of the late welterweight boxer, George Flores, by a New York state Court of Claims at Albany in a $500,000 suit filed by Mrs. Flores against the state for the death of her husband. Flores succumbed on September 3, 1951, four days after being knocked out in the eighth round of a return match with Roger Donoghue. Flores had been technically knocked out twice within 35 days prior to that bout. The judge who made the decision rapped the physicians who examined the fighter, saying that Flores should have been suspended and not permitted to fight. Mrs. Flores also has a $500,000 suit pending against the IBC and Madison Square Garden. (International)

Soup for breakfast

With his family back in New York

BY KNOCKING OUT Carl (Bobo) Olson in a middleweight title fight in Chicago, Sugar Ray Robinson, former king of the 160-pound division, again climbs to the throne and becomes the toast of the sports world. Ray is taking it easy now, having breakfast in bed (soup at that) and looking over the field for his next bout if Olson doesn't ask for a re-match. (International)

Lightburn Gains Decision Over Dupas

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ludwig Lightburn moved forward persistently against a dancing target tonight to win a unanimous decision over Ralph Dupas of New Orleans in an interesting 10-round match at Madison Square Garden. Dupas weighed 138½, Lightburn 137¾.

So close was this match between the steady ever-onward puncher from British Honduras and the clever, 20-year-old boxer from the South that Referee Harry Kessler called it one of the closest fights he ever had to score.

Kessler, who handled the bout in capable fashion, voted 5-4-1 for Lightburn. Judge Jack Gordon scored it 6-3-1 and Judge Bert Grant 6-4, all for Lightburn. The AP card was a tight 5-4-1 for Lightburn with a flurry of punches in the final seconds deciding the issue.

Sooners Prepare For Bowl Contest

Starting center Jerry Tubbs was the only one left out. He continued to limber up a game knee suffered in the final game of the season with Oklahoma A&M.

Pass defense, handoffs and the pass-run option with Tommy McDonald, Bob Burris, Clendon Thomas and Carl Dodd running it also occupied the backs.

Slammer Has 134 At Halfway Mark

SANFORD, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—The weather turned cold today and so did Sam Snead's putter, but the Slammer's even par 70 was good enough to give him a one-stroke lead at the halfway mark in the $15,000 Sanford Open golf tournament.

"I missed putts all over the course," Sam moaned as he walked off the windswept, chilly course. His record six-under par 64 in the opening round gave Snead a 36-hole total of 134.

Five Bunched For 2nd

Bunched in second place just one stroke back of Snead were Al Balding of Ontario, Canada, Walker Inman Jr., of Augusta, Ga., Leo Biagetti of Willoughby, Ohio, Jim Ferree of Winston-Salem N.C., and Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill.

Inman and Balding shot 66s—low score for the day. Biagetti had a 67 and Furgol and Ferree fired 68s.

The field of 125 was reduced to the 60 low scoring pros, plus ties, and 10 amateurs for the final two rounds. Pros shooting 144 or under qualified.

Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, tied for second place two strokes behind Snead after the opening round, matched Snead's 70 and finished in a four-way tie at 136.

Others in that bracket were Mike Souchak of Grossinger,'s, N.Y., Pete Cooper of Detroit and amateur Dug Sanders of Miami Beach. Sanders had a 67, Cooper and Souchak a 69 each.

Ed Furgol of St. Louis and Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., also had low 66s today and were grouped with six others at 137.

Snead Blames Cold

Snead blamed the hand-numbing cold for some of his putting troubles.

"Shucks," the White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, veteran said, "it was so cold out there I couldn't hold a club. And I was putting miserably."

Sam's only birdies came on two par 5 holes where he got down putts of about 18 and 30 inches.

"I three-putted the 17th for a bogey and on the two holes before that I missed short putts for birdies," Snead said in disgust.

Kids' Show With Good Manners

Captain Kangaroo is a moustached, white-haired, gentle, mild old gentleman on the CBS-TV morning show (8 to 9 a. m. EST) who is endeavoring to prove that children are not necessarily addicted to gunplay and violence. The good captain, who is played by 28-year-old Bob Keeshan, dodders about his Treasure House, playing with toys, petting his tame animals, discussing things with a talking grandfather clock, and gently admonishing the children to eat their breakfast and not to be late for school.

It is the theory of Keeshan and his producer, Jack Miller, to avoid not only violence but also noise, chaos, villains, slapstick comedy, and the other ingredients which are standard practice on kids' shows. So well has this paid off that the show's rating has tripled in three months and it is cutting into NBC's morning show rating.

Captain Kangaroo shuffles into his show wearing a sort of conductor's cap which is much too small, an oversized coat with huge pockets (whence the name Captain Kangaroo), says "Good Morning" to the children and starts arranging flowers in a vase in his Treasure House. Just what the Treasure House is has never been explained, and no one seems to know what he is or was captain of, but the children don't ask questions.

He talks in a very soft voice directly to the kids at home, frequently asking them to help him hang up his coat or tie his apron for him. Children, you'll find, will actually go up to their sets and pretend to help him, too. This gift for making the home audience feel like participants in his show is one of the secrets of his charm for them.

As for what goes on for an hour, that's a little hard to explain. He may wind up a mechanical toy and watch it whirl around. Or, while a record of "Cinderella" plays, he'll dress up like Cinderella and cavort around, acting out the words, which draws giggles from the kids though you may find it just incomprehensible.

"You know where Alaska is?" he'll ask. Then he'll take down a globe and show them. This followed by a little lecture on Alaska: Eskimos live there, wear furs, and drive dog sleds and use snowshoes—illustrated by models of all those things. In short, education—and though children are supposed to run screaming from anything resembling education, they eat it up. It's just how you do it.

Little snippets of moral education about thrift or good manners sneak into the show from time to time, but always so casually as to be fairly painless. The captain may show the children how to make a penny bank out of a fruit jar or a box, counselling them about saving, or how to make an Indian headdress or a cardboad train.

They go in strongly for live pets on this show—raccoons or baby lambs, the captain feeding them, petting them and talking to them like people. "Some of the children have to get off to school," he'll tell his lambs, "and I wanted them to see you before they go. Say baaa." He talks that way to the kids at home, too. He doesn't for example, say "We will now watch a story," he says "Would you like to watch a story?" My children say "Yes" right back to the screen. They like to be let in on the policy-making level rather than have something thrust down their throats.

There is quite a lot of music on the show, mostly children's songs, sometimes illustarted with cartoons, sometimes by puppets. One of the rules of the show is: "When choosing music, remember that it's to be played not for a small tone deaf animal but for a human of potentially great taste."

Another rule which ought to be a must on all children's shows: "In general the fact that children are imitators outlines our scope and our limitations. If you're planning anything that can create an undesirable model for a child to imitate—throw it out. There's a better way to entertain him."

(Copyright, 1955, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

The kangaroo family has more than 50 members, says the National Geographic Society. Some are called by other names—wallaroo, wallaby, euro and pademelon. They range from the foot-long musky-rat kangaroo to 7-foot red and great grays.

Kids' Show With Good Manners

Captain Kangaroo is a moustached, white-haired, gentle, mild old gentleman on the CBS-TV morning show (8 to 9 a. m. EST) who is endeavoring to prove that children are not necessarily addicted to gunplay and violence. The good captain, who is played by 28-year-old Bob Keeshan, dodders about his Treasure House, playing with toys, petting his tame animals, discussing things with a talking grandfather clock, and gently admonishing the children to eat their breakfast and not to be late for school.

It is the theory of Keeshan and his producer, Jack Miller, to avoid not only violence but also noise, chaos, villains, slapstick comedy, and the other ingredients which are standard practice on kids' shows. So well has this paid off that the show's rating has tripled in three months and it is cutting into NBC's morning show rating.

Captain Kangaroo shuffles into his show wearing a sort of conductor's cap which is much too small, an oversized coat with huge pockets (whence the name Captain Kangaroo), says "Good Morning" to the children and starts arranging flowers in a vase in his Treasure House. Just what the Treasure House is has never been explained, and no one seems to know what he is or was captain of, but the children don't ask questions.

He talks in a very soft voice directly to the kids at home, frequently asking them to help him hang up his coat or tie his apron for him. Children, you'll find, will actually go up to their sets and pretend to help him, too. This gift for making the home audience feel like participants in his show is one of the secrets of his charm for them.

As for what goes on for an hour, that's a little hard to explain. He may wind up a mechanical toy and watch it whirl around. Or, while a record of "Cinderella" plays, he'll dress up like Cinderella and cavort around, acting out the words, which draws giggles from the kids though you may find it just incomprehensible.

"You know where Alaska is?" he'll ask. Then hell take down a globe and show them. This followed by a little lecture on Alaska: Eskimos live there, wear furs, and drive dog sleds and use snowshoes—illustrated by models of all those things. In short, education—and though children are supposed to run screaming from anything resembling education, they eat it up. It's just how you do it.

Little snippets of moral education about thrift or good manners sneak into the show from time to time, but always so casually as to be fairly painless. The captain may show the children how to make a penny bank out of a fruit jar or a box, counselling them about saving, or how to make an Indian headdress or a cardboad train.

They go in strongly for live pets on this show—raccoons or baby lambs, the captain feeding them, petting them and talking to them like people. "Some of the children have to get off to school," he'll tell his lambs, "and I wanted them to see you before they go. Say baaa." He talks that way to the kids at home, too. He doesn't for example, say "We will now watch a story," he says "Would you like to watch a story?" My children say "Yes" right back to the screen. They like to be let in on the policy-making level rather than have something thrust down their throats.

There is quite a lot of music on the show, mostly children's songs, sometimes illustarted with cartoons, sometimes by puppets. One of the rules of the show is: "When choosing music, remember that it's to be played not for a small tone deaf animal but for a human of potentially great taste."

Another rule which ought to be a must on all children's shows: "In general the fact that children are imitators outlines our scope and our limitations. If you're planning anything that can create an undesirable model for a child to imitate—throw it out. There's a better way to entertain him."

(Copyright, 1955, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

The kangaroo 'amily has more than 50 members, says the National Geographic Society. Some are called by other names—wallaroo, wallaby, euro and pademelon. They range from the foot-long musky-rat kangaroo to 7-foot red and great grays.

BOY TERRORIZES, KILLS THREE

A HEAVILY-ARMED state police posse searching around Vandergrift, Pa., caught John Fallone, 17, after the boy terrorized and killed three adults and critically wounded his one-time girl friend. Killed were the parents of the girl, J. Warren Smail, 44, and his wife Irene, 36, and Smail's brother, William, 47, whose body is shown where it fell. Lower photo shows a box of dynamite Fallone placed on a kitchen table in the Smail home. He tried to touch it off by firing at it through a window. The wounded girl said the youth threatened to "get" her family when her parents forbade her to see him again. (International Soundphotos)

WORKING as a kite-maker in his shop in Nagasaki, Japan, Shigeyoshi Morimoto should not be alive. He is one of 12 Japanese who survived both history's two atomic bombings, at Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945, and at Nagasaki three days later. He was only 200 yards from the center of the Hiroshima blast. After spending two days in the horrible nightmare of mangled bodies and destruction, he made his way to Nagasaki to see his family. As he described the bluish-white flash, it happened again. (International)

More Fishing, Hunting

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Department of Interior says last year 18½ million persons held state fishing licenses and more than 14 million had state hunting licenses.

The department says there were only half that number of fishing licenses 10 years ago and they are now "increasing at the rate of a million a year."

Solon Would Ban Talk By Parson; Aided NAACP

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 16 (AP) — A prosegregation state representative said today he plans to ask the Legislature to prevent an anti-segregation preacher from speaking at the University of Mississippi next year.

Rep. James Morrow of adjacent Rankin County said he would introduce in the 1956 Legislature which meets Jan. 3, a resolution seeking to ban the Rev. Alvin Kershaw of Ohio.

Kershaw has accepted an invitation to speak during Religious Emphasis Week at the University of Mississippi Feb. 21-22.

The college board met yesterday but took no action on the invitation.

"My only recourse now is to the Legislature," Morrow said. "I assure the people a resolution will be introduced for their representatives to take whatever action they see fit."

The minister was catapulted into the spotlight last summer when he announced plans to donate half of his quiz show winnings to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to fight segregation.

Morrow said he was "not speaking idle words when I objected to this man's invitation . . . and as a member of the Legislature . . . I feel I must strongly speak out in opposition to Mr. Kershaw's invitation to visit Mississippi."

The lawmaker's original objection, early in November, called for "public rebuke" of the preacher because he "rebuked Mississippi's way of life over a nationwide television hookup."

Morrow wrote to Ole Miss Chancellor J. D. Williams objecting to Kershaw's proposed visit. He said in part:

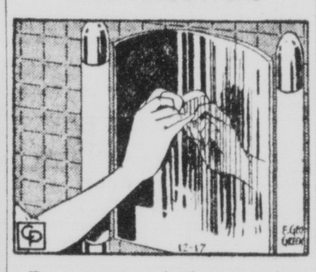

". . . I will continue to believe in segregation, no matter what my religion or any preacher may say to the contrary . . ."

Top Russians Bargain With Afghan Leaders

KABUL, Afghanistan, Dec. 16 (AP) — Russia's traveling salesmen, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, sat down around the bargaining table today with apparently receptive Afghan leaders.

Afghan Premier Mohammed Daud already has received economic aid from the Soviet Union and is counting on more, plus political support for Afghanistan's demand that a new state for Pathan tribesmen be carved out of neighboring Pakistan.

But Afghan officials are reluctant to appear too eager and are playing the Soviet leaders' visit down for fear of making the West think country may turn into a Communist satellite.

Afghanistan especially wants to remain friendly with the United States, from which it has received much economic aid. In addition, overtures have been made to President Eisenhower for his influence in the dispute with Pakistan.

On the other hand, the Russians are after close links with this mountainous nation so they can extend Soviet influence right to Pakistan's borders on historic Khyber Pass.

More than a year ago the Russians sent the Afghans economic aid in the form of road paving teams, bakery equipment, busses, taxis and an asphalt plant. This aid based on a long-term credit barter, gave Kabul, capital of this country of 12 million people, its first paved roads, taxis and modern buses.

The United States had advanced millions of dollars to improve Afghanistan's economy. But while the Russians have paved the roads where Afghan officials and foreign visitors can easily see them, American projects such as the Helmand Valley reclamation scheme are in the remote hinterlands.

Abandoned Polar Bear Cub Dies In Zoo At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 16 (AP) — Cumulus, the polar bear cub who raised a brave voice against more infirmities and misfortunes during his 13-day life than most bruins could bear in a decade, died today at Washington Park Zoo.

The tiny bear, who weighed only a pound when his mother, Cirrus, dropped his fuzzy form outside her den in freezing weather shortly after his birth Dec. 4, beset by pneumonia, colic and enteritis during his brief career, appeared to have bested them all earlier today.

But in mid-morning the battle to save the little bear, and thus establish another precedent for the polar bear experts at the zoo, was lost.

No American zoo ever has hand-raised a polar bear abandoned by its mother, according to zoo Director George Speidel, who spent most of his days and nights at the oxygen tent where Cumulus was kept. A Czechoslovakian zoo offered the only previous claim to success in the field.

The Washington Park Zoo was the first in the world to breed and raise polar bears successfully in captivity. Cumulus was the third generation—another record—of zoo-bred bears. He was Cirrus' first-born, and Speidel said she apparently abandoned the cub through nervousness over what she considered a lack of privacy.

Nancy Kefauver Isn't Talking About Her Husband's Plans For 1956 Campaign

By RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP) — Vivacious red-haired Nancy Kefauver, who happily campaigned 150,000 miles with her husband in his 1952 try for the Democratic presidential nomination, today declined comment on his second bid.

Four years ago Scottish-born Nancy bubbled witty, quotable remarks. But today she made the traditional dour Scotsman of the story books seem downright talkative by comparison.

To reporters who tried to interview her after Sen. Kefauver's formal announcement in a crowded hotel convention room, she replied, cool-eyed:

"I have nothing to say. Estes is the candidate."

There have been rumors that Nancy and the Kefauver's four children didn't want Daddy to toss his coonskin cap into the ring the second time.

Nancy, who is eight years younger than her 52-year-old husband, came to the news conference at which Kefauver confirmed that he was again a candidate. She sat off to one side.

When the conference was breaking up, she went up to the improvised platform on which her husband was standing behind a small table. She was flanked by campaign workers.

Perhaps she was thinking of the thousands and thousands of hands she shook as she and her husband campaigned for convention delegates in 1952. "I had to get a dress with a free-swinging armhole," she had joked then.

Perhaps she was thinking of that dramatic night at the 1952 convention in Chicago when her husband withdrew — the heartbreak behind it, the awful fatigue.

"What do you think about this second try? Are you going campaigning again?" reporters began asking.

"I have nothing to say—sorry," Nancy replied. With her escort of campaign workers she pushed out of the room.

Reporters turned to the candidate. "Will your wife go campaigning with you?"

"She will do her share," replied Kefauver. "But she won't be able to get out on campaign trips as much as she did before. The children are older and badly need one of us at home."

There are four young Kefauvers —Linda 14, David 10, Diane Cary 8 and Gail Ester 5. Kefauver said the two older ones objected to his running again because they dislike being made conspicuous at school.

Bricker Of Ohio To Enter Race For President

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio today entered the lists as a "favorite son" candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, but proclaimed his support of President Eisenhower if the latter runs.

Bricker announced he would be a candidate in Ohio's presidential primary election May 8. He indicated the action is designed to reserve Ohio's 56 national convention votes for President Eisenhower, if the chief executive decides to seek a second term, while sparing him the embarrassment of "demands for an untimely decision."

At the same time, if Eisenhower doesn't run, Bricker would be in a position to try to swing the nomination to some one in accord with the Bricker philosophy of government.

In 1952 Bricker backed the late Sen. Robert A. Taft in the losing battle with Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination. In 1944 Bricker sought the nomination himself but became the vice presidential nominee on the ticket with Thomas E. Dewey.

Bricker has collided with the Eisenhower administration in his so-far-unsuccessful effort to obtain passage of the Bricker amendment to limit the presidential treaty-making power.

The Ohio senator is regarded as one of the leaders of a school of thought sometimes called "Nationalism," as opposed to what it's advocates call "internationalism" or "foreign giveaway programs."

A frequent criticism of United Nations actions, he has expressed fear that some day agreements reached through the United Nations or otherwise might change the American way of life. Hence the attempt to curb the treaty-making power.

President Eisenhower took the position that the Bricker amendment would invade the powers of the executive branch of the government and hamper the president in the conduct of foreign relations. Bricker, in turn, accused the White House of "furious lobbying" against his amendment.

The closing date for entering delegate slates in the Ohio primary is Feb. 8, and the consent of the candidate seeking nomination is required for the filing of a slate pledged to him in the national convention.

In a statement issued through his office, Bricker said he joins with other Ohio Republicans "in restating our loyalty to President Eisenhower and our desire that he stand for re-election, if in his own good judgment, he should do so."

Some Republican leaders, notably Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate GOP floor leader, and Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, have said Eisenhower should make an early announcement of his plans so as to give other hopefuls a chance if he decides not to run again.

Other party leaders contend the president should be allowed plenty of time to consider his health and other factors.

The first U. S. woman cabinet member was Frances Perkins, secretary of labor during Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration.

BOY TERRORIZES, KILLS THREE

A HEAVILY-ARMED state police posse searching around Vandergrift, Pa., caught John Fallone, 17, after the boy terrorized and killed three adults and critically wounded his one-time girl friend. Killed were the parents of the girl, J. Warren Small, 44, and his wife Irene, 36, and Small's brother, William, 47, whose body is shown where it fell. Lower photo shows a box of dynamite Fallone placed on a kitchen table in the Small home. He tried to touch it off by firing at it through a window. The wounded girl said the youth threatened to "get" her family when her parents forbade her to see him again. (International Soundphotos)

WORKING as a kite-maker in his shop in Nagasaki, Japan, Shigeyoshi Morimoto should not be alive. He is one of 12 Japanese who survived both history's two atomic bombings, at Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945, and at Nagasaki three days later. He was only 200 yards from the center of the Hiroshima blast. After spending two days in the horrible nightmare of mangled bodies and destruction, he made his way to Nagasaki to see his family. As he described the bluish-white flash, it happened again. (International)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Department of Interior says last year 18½ million persons held state fishing licenses and more than 14 million had state hunting licenses.

Solon Would Ban Talk By Parson; Aided NAACP

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 16 (AP) — A prosegregation state representative said today he plans to ask the Legislature to prevent an anti-segregation preacher from speaking at the University of Mississippi next year.

Rep. James Morrow of adjacent Rankin County said he would introduce in the 1956 Legislature which meets Jan. 3, a resolution seeking to ban the Rev. Alvin Kershaw of Ohio.

Kershaw has accepted an invitation to speak during Religious Emphasis Week at the University of Mississippi Feb. 21-22.

The college board met yesterday but took no action on the invitation.

"My only recourse now is to the Legislature," Morrow said. "I assure the people a resolution will be introduced for their representatives to take whatever action they see fit."

The minister was catapulted into the spotlight last summer when he announced plans to donate half of his quiz show winnings to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to fight segregation.

Kershaw won $32,000 for his knowledge of jazz music.

Other legislators and several state officials joined Morrow in opposing Kershaw's invitation.

Morrow said he was "not speaking idle words when I objected to this man's invitation . . . and as a member of the Legislature . . . I feel I must strongly speak out in opposition to Mr. Kershaw's invitation to visit Mississippi."

The lawmaker's original objection, early in November, called for "public rebuke" of the preacher because he "rebuked Mississippi's way of life over a nationwide television hookup."

Morrow wrote to Ole Miss Chancellor J. D. Williams objecting to Kerhsaw's proposed visit. He said in part:

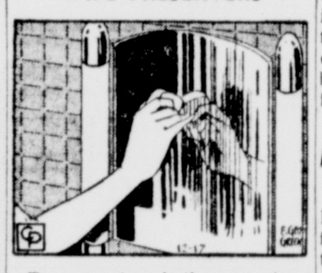

". . . I will continue to believe in segregation, no matter what my religion or any preacher may say to the contrary . . ."

CHRYSLER
53 NASH HEALEY
SPORTS CAR

This American produced Sports Coupe with body and chassis designed by Farina of Italy has been widely accepted by the American public. The overall length is an exceptional 172 inches with a height of only 52 inches.

The former owner, a local business man drove this one only 20,600 miles and kept the car in perfect condition. Equipment includes 5 new Kelly Whitewall Celebrity Tubeless Tires, signal lights, custom radio, heater and defroster. A tailored leather interior and a perfect 2-tone green finish.

The powerful engine with overhead valves coupled to a 3-speed standard transmission with overdrive will give you amazing performance and still maintain very economical gasoline mileage. The engine has the piston displacement of 234.8 cubic inches and a compression ratio of 8.1 to 1. It produces top torque at only 4,000 rpms. The original cost was over $7,000 but it can now be had at our exceptional low price of

Weather Fails To Chill Yule Shopping Wave

Stores Jammed By Night Crowds

Following one of the coldest nights of the winter season thus far, merchants here yesterday noted a slight slowdown in Friday morning's shopping, but made up for it last night as stores remained open until 9 p. m.

Every store in the downtown area, from about 2 p. m. yesterday, felt the pressure of record crowds of Christmas buyers. By 6:30 p. m. the aisles of every store and shop were crowded. Streets were jammed with vehicular traffic and pedestrians.

Braving temperatures that fell below freezing all day and below the 20s all afternoon, shoppers appeared in good spirits and buying was brisk.

Parking lot attendants last night reported they had "full houses" all evening and much of the late afternoon. Traffic was kept moving quickly and safely throughout the downtown area by members of the Police Department.

Merchants yesterday replenished displays of Christmas merchandise repeatedly. Last night at closing time in a number of stores, stock clerks remained to move in new merchandise from warerooms, for the big rush expected today.

Stores all report ample supplies of Christmas merchandise for today and next week, but also anticipate increased buying today and early next week. Practically every downtown merchant has employed extra holiday help, and many of these people, especially high school girls and boys, went to work last night for the first time.

Stores will be open tonight until 9 o'clock and each night next week until 9 o'clock except Saturday when all will be closed at 6 p. m.

Christmas Seal Fund Drive Is At $13,190 Mark

Receipts totaling $13,190.02 were reported yesterday from the 1955 Christmas Seal campaign and Glenn K. Davis, chairman, said he hopes returns by next Friday will meet the needs of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association.

He termed yesterday's fifth week report good and exceeding the $12,998.21 raised by this week last year.

This week's returns totaled $2,947.71, an increase of about $700 over the same week in 1954.

Included was $11,329.12 returned from seals purchased in Allegany County, up slightly from last year, and in Garrett County $1,647.84, about $100 under last year's fifth week report.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club, instead of giving jingle gifts to each other, mailed some 50 presents to patients in Henryton State TB Hospital, and a similar Yule project was sponsored by the Optimist Club.

Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary, said the gifts are better than money since they have the personal touch and will mean a better Christmas for the patients.

The program begins at 9:15 p. m. and will feature selections by the Cumberland Municipal Band, the Allegany High School Choir and group singing of carols.

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin announced today that all of Maryland's positions on the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin have been filled by reappointment.

George F. Hazelwood, Cumberland contractor, and Circuit Judge J. Raymond Fletcher of Prince Georges County have been reappointed to two-year terms.

Harry O. Levin, Baltimore attorney, has been named as the governor's alternate to replace Albert W. Quinn and Dr. R. V Truitt of the Department of Research and Education has been renamed as Judge Fletcher's alternate and James C. Warden of Cumberland as Hazelwood's.

All members and their children are urged to attend, according to James Stein, president.

Stein added that the regular membership meeting slated tonight has been cancelled.

Over $900 Contributed In Muscular Dystrophy Drive

Over $900 was contributed to the 1955 Muscular Dystrophy campaign conducted in Cumberland and throughout Allegany and Garrett counties by local firemen and volunteer firefighters.

On Monday a final report on the drive in Cumberland and the two counties will be made by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, chairman of the local drive, to Sen. Charles M. See, president of the Allegany-Garrett Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy Association of America.

However a complete report on the contributions will not be known until next month since many self-addressed envelopes with contributions from local and area residents were forwarded to the New York headquarters.

Chief Parker congratulated the men of the City Fire Department, local Scouts and volunteer firemen throughout Allegany and Garrett counties. Without their cooperation the drive would not have been such a success, he added.

The contributions were given by residents, in cannisters placed in various business places, and also in gifts received by officials of the drive.

State Appeals Case Involving Beheaded Pig

A petty larceny charge involving the theft of a pig from Sylvan Retreat in June was dismissed yesterday by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick, and Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty immediately announced he was appealing the decision.

In dropping the charge against Paul Goetz, 24, of Bowman's Addition, the magistrate said he thought the youth was guilty but "the state has to prove it."

Goetz was arrested Wednesday by Sgt. William F. Baker of the Maryland State Police and was charged with the theft and butchering of a pig valued at about $40 from the county property.

The animal was reported stolen June 22, and City Police and the sheriff were notified. The arrest followed an investigation resulting from the receipt of information received by Sgt. Baker in September, Getty said.

He said William H. Greise, 21, Valley Road, testified that on June 22 at 2 a. m. he picked up Goetz in the vicinity of the county home and drove him home. He added that Goetz asked if he could take a groundhog and saw, as he opened the back of the car, that it was a pig that had been beheaded.

Questioned by his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, Goetz denied taking the pig, saying he "would not have had the nerve to do a thing like that."

Raymond G. Messmer, superintendent of the county unit, told of receiving the report of the missing animal.

Appointment of Geraldine Wolfe on a permanent basis as bacteriologist of the Allegany County Health Department at an annual salary of $3,256 effective January 1 was approved yesterday by the County Board of Commissioners.

The health officer also informed the commissioners that Miss Catherine J. Murray's temporary appointment as laboratory helper in the Health Department will terminate January 1.

Boy With County Relatives Is Scholarship Candidate

One of the 56 Marylanders still in the running for nearly 500 college scholarships which will be awarded to deserving students among high school seniors of the United States is a Westminster boy who is a nephew of the president of the Allegany County Board of Education.

He is Thomas M. Hunter, 2 Malcolm Drive, Westminster, who is enrolled at Mercersburg (Pa.) Academy. His mother is the former Mary Malcolm of this county, who formerly taught in the Carroll County schools and now is on the staff of the Peabody Conservatory of Music.

Three of his uncles and an aunt are residents of Allegany County. They are Kenneth R. Malcolm, Westernport, president of the Board of Education; John Malcolm of Frostburg; Harry Malcolm of LaVale, a music teacher in the public schools, and Mrs. Dora McLuckie of Frostburg.

It was announced Thursday that the only Allegany countian among the 5,000 still competing for National Merit Scholarship Corporation awards is Betty J. Beck, 812 Edgewood Drive, a senior at Allegany High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Beck.

The 56 Marylanders will take a second examination January 14, cutting the field nationally from 5,000 to 1,500. Subsequent screening will reduce the number of candidates to about 500. Winners will be notified before May 1.

Baltimore City and Montgomery County lead the list of Maryland eligibles with 21 and 20, respectively. Among the 20 communities represented are six with more than one candidate for scholarships. They are Baltimore City, 21; Silver Spring, 8; Chevy Chase, 5; Bethesda, 4; Annapolis and Kensington, 2 each. Tots To Share $8,181 Proceeds Of Settlement

A $10,000 damage suit for the benefit of the three infant children of a Mt. Savage woman who was fatally injured July 3 when struck by an automobile and an $8,181.90 compromise settlement were filed together yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suit was brought for the benefit of James Andrew Gillespie, 4; David Royce Gillespie, 2, and Katherine Ann Gillespie, 1, by Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, against Donald J. Shimer of Detroit.

The children's mother, Norma Jean Gillespie, was fatally injured July 3 when struck by Shimer's car along Mt. Savage Road in the vicinity of the Melody Manor.

Fletcher and William H. Geppert, Shimer's attorney, signed the $8,181.90 compromise settlement. Coupled with the settlement was a request to the court signed by Fletcher and James Gillespie, grandfather of the children, asking for the apportionment of the $8,181.90 on the basis of $2,483.79 to James, $2,776 to David and $2,922.11 to Katherine.

Chief Judge George Henderson signed an order directing the clerk of court to enter a judgment for the agreed $8,181.90 and dividing the proceeds as requested.

Cold Weather Is Expected To Continue Here

The current cold snap with temperatures of subfreezing is expected to continue in Cumberland and area although the weatherman promises that it should warm up a little today, at least above freezing.

The forecast for today is some cloudiness and slightly warmer with a high temperature of 28-35 degrees in the west portion. The mercury was expected to dip as low as five degrees above zero early this morning, with near-zero temperatures in the mountains.

Unofficially the temperature here last night was 24 degrees above zero and was dipping slightly. Up in Garrett County, the temperature reading last night was two degrees above zero. Ralph R. Weber, official weather observer at Oakland, reported that the thermometer was expected to drop to zero or below during the night.

No new snow had fallen there following the two inches which fell on Thursday. The wind had stopped blowing as hard as it had been, Weber added.

Mail Volume Here Setting New Records

Extra Weekend Hours Scheduled

An all-day schedule, from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. will be in effect at the Cumberland Post Office and Station A on Virginia Avenue today, with stamp and parcel post windows open Sunday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Postal officials said the number of cancellations of Christmas and holiday mail, including greetings and parcels, thus far exceeds any previous year.

Additional personnel has been employed and despite the heavy pressure of volume, mail has been kept moving out on schedule. All incoming mail is also being handled promptly, and to keep the volume moving out of the Post Office extra carriers are trodding about the city, making two deliveries a day instead of the usual one.

As volume continues to increase, plans are made to make additional deliveries if necessary.

Postal officials said people seem to be mailing a little earlier than last year and in previous years, which will also help prevent a last minute backlog.

The Federal Court Rooms on the second floor of the building have been converted into a mail sorting room, and clerks are busy there and in the main mail room, around the clock. There are 35 extra or substitute mail clerks at work, and next week additional men will be employed.

Each year, the Post office has employed a number of young men home from college on vacations, and this year a number of these will return. The fact that the pressure of early mailing came this week left the postal officials wondering if the long-time plan of using college youths would prove satisfactory. However, enough other substitutes and extra clerks were available to keep the mail moving thus far. By the time these college men arrive home next Wednesday, it is now felt they will be just in time for the final last-minute rush.

Postal officials still encounter a few cases where packages are not wrapped and tied securely, and where addresses are incomplete. These are important factors to assure prompt delivery, they explain, and urge the public to take advantage of this weekend's extra hours to mail parcels and greetings and to buy stamps.

Traffic Lights Are Installed

Traffic lights to control the approach to the new Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge are up, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan announced last night.

He said the lights will be placed into operation as soon as workers adjust the sequences of the controls.

The busy approach will be controlled by three sets of lights. One, located near the island on the approach, will control traffic leaving the span by means of a tripper assembly.

Traffic coming from the Dingle will be regulated by a two-unit assembly including an arrow light and stop and go control at Knepper's Pharmacy, and traffic toward the Dingle by a similar two-unit assembly located at the end of the Masonic Temple lot.

Weather Slows Work On North Branch Line

About 1,000 feet of the North Branch water line was laid this week in spite of unfavorable weather and mechanical difficulties.

City officials said about 6,100 feet of the line had been completed at noon yesterday for a total of about 1.15 miles.

Work was delayed for half a day when the main shaft of a shovel broke under unusually heavy digging conditions and several minor delays resulted from mechanical difficulties resulting from the current cold wave.

The week also saw the construction of three manholes and the installation of two blow-off assemblies.

D'Alesandro To Announce For Senate

Heavy Democrat Support Expected

By DREW PEARSON

The big question mark troubling Maryland Democrats for the last year is going to be solved shortly after the first of January—namely, who will run against Sen. John Marshall Butler.

Shortly after the first of the year, Tommy D'Alesandro, ex-Congressman and now the much-headlined mayor of Baltimore, will announce for the Senate.

This will lead to a primary with George Mahoney, who already has announced and who has worn out his welcome with many voters by his repeated attempts for both Governor and Senator.

However, D'Alesandro is expected to get the support of the great majority of Democratic leaders and should win in the primary. His chief strength will be in Baltimore, but he is also expected to poll better than Mahoney in the rural sections of the state.

Ex-Sen. Millard Tydings, who could have had the nomination had he wanted it, told Democratic leaders last month that he plans to continue in private life. After 24 years in the Senate, he was defeated by Butler in 1950, thanks to the heavy support of Sen. Joe McCarthy and considerable amounts of money contributed by The Chicago Tribune and Texas oil friends of McCarthy's.

As a private citizen, Tydings probably will be a more effective campaigner than if he were running for the Senate himself, and it is expected he will work hard for D'Alesandro.

NOTE — First inkling that D'Alesandro would become a candidate leaked out last week when he declined an invitation from Sen. Estes Kefauver to come to Washington when Kefauver formally threw his hat in the ring. It was D'Alesandro who dissuaded Maryland Democrats from endorsing Adlai Stevenson when the latter's campaign manager, Jim Finnegan, met with them in Baltimore recently. D'Alesandro argued that the Baltimore delegates to the Democratic Convention in 1956 should keep an open mind and not line up for any candidate so far in advance.

Area Woman Wounded By Gunshot

The victim, Mrs. Carline Method, was taken to surgery after being admitted to the hospital about 8:15 p. m. Police said her condition was not serious.

West Virginia State Police report that conflicting stories were given in the shooting. Mrs. Method, wife of Felix Method, told a physician at the hospital that she was wounded when a gun accidentally discharged as her husband was cleaning it.

When the doctor talked to the husband, he said he was at work and when he returned home he found his wife shot.

Two Are Injured When Hit By Car

Two persons were injured last night when they were hit by a car at the intersection of Baltimore and Liberty Streets.

Treated in Memorial Hospital were William E. Crane, 42, of 708 Lafayette Avenue, and Mrs. Ruth Widdows, 34, also of 708 Lafayette Avenue, according to Officer Kenneth Morrissey, who investigated.

Officer Morrissey said they were struck at 10 p. m. by a car driven by Donald Eugene Rapson, 18, of 203 Valley Street, as they were crossing the intersection to get a cab.

Rapson was charged with reckless driving, he said.

New Industry Acquires Deed To Rail Shops

Mt. Savage Plant Moves Forward

Mt. Savage's new industry moved another step nearer reality yesterday when the deed by which the Danmer Company acquired the old C&P Railroad shops from the Western Maryland Railway Company was filed for record in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Tax stamps affixed to the deed indicated that the purchase price for the seven buildings and approximately 3.2 acres of land was $51,000.

Daniel Price, head of the company, has indicated that he plans to spend up to $500,000 to remodel and expand the facilities to meet his needs. The company will fabricate steel and manufacture ribbon copy equipment designed to remove the need for carbon paper on typewriters.

It was announced earlier this week that applications for employment will be taken by the State Employment Service office in Cumberland. The operations will require the hiring of about 200 persons. They will include welders, machinists, punch press operators, persons with some experience in steel fabrication and assembly operation.

The deed noted that the property had been conveyed to the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company by the Union Mining Company by deed dated September 19, 1907. The Western Maryland Railway Company assumed the property from the C&P by articles of merger.

W. Arthur Grotz, president of the Western Maryland, signed the deed.

Healy Is Named To Employment Security Board

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP)—Charles D. Harris, Baltimore attorney and recently appointed member of the State Employment Security Board, resigned today and was replaced by Joseph P. Healy, retired meat packing firm executive.

Gov. McKeldin, who announced the resignation and appointment, said he accepted Harris' resignation with "great reluctance and regret."

He said Harris had informed him he did not have sufficient time to devote to his post on the ESB.

Harris was named to the board last June, shortly after the State Department of Employment Security came under fire from both state and federal officials for certain aspects of its management.

He previously had been general counsel to the Public Service Commission.

During his brief tenure, he assisted ESB chairman Robert B. Kimble and associate member Charles H. Borcherding Sr. in putting into effect many new policies to correct criticized weaknesses in the State agency.

He has served on the advisory council to the ESB, was a member of the War Labor Board, a Federal Housing chairman and State bank commissioners.

He is a Democrat and served as chairman of the finance committee for Franklin D. Roosevelt's reelection in 1936.

Over $900 Contributed In Muscular Dystrophy Drive

Over $900 was contributed to the 1955 Muscular Dystrophy campaign conducted in Cumberland and throughout Allegany and Garrett counties by local firemen and volunteer firefighters.

On Monday a final report on the drive in Cumberland and the two counties will be made by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, chairman of the local drive, to Sen. Charles M. See, president of the Allegany-Garrett Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy Association of America.

However a complete report on the contributions will not be known until next month since many self-addressed envelopes with contributions from local and area residents were forwarded to the New York headquarters.

Chief Parker congratulated the men of the City Fire Department, local Scouts and volunteer firemen throughout Allegany and Garrett counties. Without their cooperation the drive would not have been such a success, he added.

The contributions were given by residents, in cannisters placed in various business places, and also in gifts received by officials of the drive.

State Appeals Case Involving Beheaded Pig

A petty larceny charge involving the theft of a pig from Sylvan Retreat in June was dismissed yesterday by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick, and Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty immediately announced he was appealing the decision.

In dropping the charge against Paul Goetz, 24, of Bowman's Addition, the magistrate said he thought the youth was guilty but "the state has to prove it."

Goetz was arrested Wednesday by Sgt. William F. Baker of the Maryland State Police and was charged with the theft and butchering of a pig valued at about $40 from the county property.

The animal was reported stolen June 22, and City Police and the sheriff were notified. The arrest followed an investigation resulting from the receipt of information received by Sgt. Baker in September, Getty said.

He said William H. Greise, 21, Valley Road, testified that on June 22 at 2 a. m. he picked up Goetz in the vicinity of the county home and drove him home. He added that Goetz asked if he could take a groundhog and saw, as he opened the back of the car, that it was a pig that had been beheaded.

Questioned by his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, Goetz denied taking the pig, saying he "would not have had the nerve to do a thing like that."

Raymond G. Messmer, superintendent of the county unit, told of receiving the report of the missing animal.

Ryan termed Messmer's evidence hearsay, received from the farmer who was not present. Getty pointed out Messmer's job as superintendent is mostly administrative.

He is Thomas M. Hunter, 2 Malcolm Drive, Westminster, who is enrolled at Mercersburg (Pa.) Academy. His mother is the former Mary Malcolm of this county, who formerly taught in the Carroll County schools and now is on the staff of the Peabody Conservatory of Music.

Tots To Share $8,181 Proceeds Of Settlement

A $10,000 damage suit for the benefit of the three infant children of a Mt. Savage woman who was fatally injured July 3 when struck by an automobile and an $8,181.90 compromise settlement were filed together yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suit was brought for the benefit of James Andrew Gillespie, 4; David Royce Gillespie, 2, and Katherine Ann Gillespie, 1, by Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, against Donald J. Shimer of Detroit.

The children's mother, Norma Jean Gillespie, was fatally injured July 3 when struck by Shimer's car along Mt. Savage Road in the vicinity of the Melody Manor.

Fletcher and William H. Geppert, Shimer's attorney, signed the $8,181.90 compromise settlement. Coupled with the settlement was a request to the court signed by Fletcher and James Gillespie, grandfather of the children, asking for the apportionment of the $8,181.90 on the basis of $2,483.79 to James, $2,776 to David and $2,922.11 to Katherine.

Chief Judge George Henderson signed an order directing the clerk of court to enter a judgment for the agreed $8,181.90 and dividing the proceeds as requested.

Cold Weather Is Expected To Continue Here

The current cold snap with temperatures of subfreezing is expected to continue in Cumberland and area although the weatherman promises that it should warm up a little today, at least above freezing.

The forecast for today is some cloudiness and slightly warmer with a high temperature of 28-35 degrees in the west portion. The mercury was expected to dip as low as five degrees above zero early this morning, with near-zero temperatures in the mountains.

Unofficially the temperature here last night was 24 degrees above zero and was dipping slightly. Up in Garrett County, the temperature reading last night was two degrees above zero. Ralph R. Weber, official weather observer at Oakland, reported that the thermometer was expected to drop to zero or below during the night.

No new snow had fallen there following the two inches which fell on Thursday. The wind had stopped blowing as hard as it had been, Weber added.

Mail Volume Here Setting New Records

Extra Weekend Hours Scheduled

An all-day schedule, from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. will be in effect at the Cumberland Post Office and Station A on Virginia Avenue today, with stamp and parcel post windows open Sunday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Postal officials said the number of cancellations of Christmas and holiday mail, including greetings and parcels, thus far exceeds any previous year.

Additional personnel has been employed and despite the heavy pressure of volume, mail has been kept moving out on schedule. All incoming mail is also being handled promptly, and to keep the volume moving out of the Post Office extra carriers are trodding about the city, making two deliveries a day instead of the usual one.

As volume continues to increase, plans are made to make additional deliveries if necessary.

Postal officials said people seem to be mailing a little earlier than last year and in previous years, which will also help prevent a last minute backlog.

The Federal Court Rooms on the second floor of the building have been converted into a mail sorting room, and clerks are busy there and in the main mail room, around the clock. There are 35 extra or substitute mail clerks at work, and next week additional men will be employed.

Each year, the Post office has employed a number of young men home from college on vacations, and this year a number of these will return. The fact that the pressure of early mailing came this week left the postal officials wondering if the long-time plan of using college youths would prove satisfactory. However, enough other substitutes and extra clerks were available to keep the mail moving thus far. By the time these college men arrive home next Wednesday, it is now felt they will be just in time for the final last-minute rush.

Postal officials still encounter a few cases where packages are not wrapped and tied securely, and where addresses are incomplete. These are important factors to assure prompt delivery, they explain, and urge the public to take advantage of this weekend's extra hours to mail parcels and greetings and to buy stamps.

Traffic Lights Are Installed

Traffic lights to control the approach to the new Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge are up, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan announced last night.

He said the lights will be placed into operation as soon as workers adjust the sequences of the controls.

The busy approach will be controlled by three sets of lights. One, located near the island on the approach, will control traffic leaving the span by means of a tripper assembly.

Traffic coming from the Dingle will be regulated by a two-unit assembly including an arrow light and stop and go control at Knepper's Pharmacy, and traffic toward the Dingle by a similar two-unit assembly located at the end of the Masonic Temple lot.

Weather Slows Work On North Branch Line

About 1,000 feet of the North Branch water line was laid this week in spite of unfavorable weather and mechanical difficulties.

City officials said about 6,100 feet of the line had been completed at noon yesterday for a total of about 1.15 miles.

Work was delayed for half a day when the main shaft of a shovel broke under unusually heavy digging conditions and several minor delays resulted from mechanical difficulties resulting from the current cold wave.

The week also saw the construction of three manholes and the installation of two blow-off assemblies.

D'Alesandro To Announce For Senate

Heavy Democrat Support Expected

By DREW PEARSON

The big question mark troubling Maryland Democrats for the last year is going to be solved shortly after the first of January—namely, who will run against Sen. John Marshall Butler.

Shortly after the first of the year, Tommy D'Alesandro, ex-Congressman and now the much-headlined mayor of Baltimore, will announce for the Senate.

This will lead to a primary with George Mahoney, who already has announced and who has worn out his welcome with many voters by his repeated attempts for both Governor and Senator.

However, D'Alesandro is expected to get the support of the great majority of Democratic leaders and should win in the primary. His chief strength will be in Baltimore, but he is also expected to poll better than Mahoney in the rural sections of the state.

Ex-Sen. Millard Tydings, who could have had the nomination had he wanted it, told Democratic leaders last month that he plans to continue in private life. After 24 years in the Senate, he was defeated by Butler in 1950, thanks to the heavy support of Sen. Joe McCarthy and considerable amounts of money contributed by The Chicago Tribune and Texas oil friends of McCarthy's.

As a private citizen, Tydings probably will be a more effective campaigner than if he were running for the Senate himself, and it is expected he will work hard for D'Alesandro.

NOTE — First inkling that D'Alesandro would become a candidate leaked out last week when he declined an invitation from Sen. Estes Kefauver to come to Washington when Kefauver formally threw his hat in the ring. It was D'Alesandro who dissuaded Maryland Democrats from endorsing Adlai Stevenson when the latter's campaign manager, Jim Finnegan, met with them in Baltimore recently. D'Alesandro argued that the Baltimore delegates to the Democratic Convention in 1956 should keep an open mind and not line up for any candidate so far in advance.

Area Woman Wounded By Gunshot

The victim, Mrs. Carline Method, was taken to surgery after being admitted to the hospital about 8:15 p. m. Police said her condition was not serious.

West Virginia State Police report that conflicting stories were given in the shooting. Mrs. Method, wife of Felix Method, told a physician at the hospital that she was wounded when a gun accidentally discharged as her husband was cleaning it.

When the doctor talked to the husband, he said he was at work and when he returned home he found his wife shot.

Two Are Injured When Hit By Car

Two persons were injured last night when they were hit by a car at the intersection of Baltimore and Liberty Streets.

Treated in Memorial Hospital were William E. Crane, 42, of 708 Lafayette Avenue, and Mrs. Ruth Widdows, 34, also of 708 Lafayette Avenue, according to Officer Kenneth Morrissey, who investigated.

He said Crane suffered a left arm and nose injury and Mrs. Widdows a large cut on the top of the head.

Officer Morrissey said they were struck at 10 p. m. by a car driven by Donald Eugene Rapson, 18, of 203 Valley Street, as they were crossing the intersection to get a cab.

Rapson was charged with reckless driving, he said.

New Industry Acquires Deed To Rail Shops

Mt. Savage Plant Moves Forward

Mt. Savage's new industry moved another step nearer reality yesterday when the deed by which the Danmer Company acquired the old C&P Railroad shops from the Western Maryland Railway Company was filed for record in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Tax stamps affixed to the deed indicated that the purchase price for the seven buildings and approximately 3.2 acres of land was $51,000.

Daniel Price, head of the company, has indicated that he plans to spend up to $500,000 to remodel and expand the facilities to meet his needs. The company will fabricate steel and manufacture ribbon copy equipment designed to remove the need for carbon paper on typewriters.

It was announced earlier this week that applications for employment will be taken by the State Employment Service office in Cumberland. The operations will require the hiring of about 200 persons. They will include welders, machinists, punch press operators, persons with some experience in steel fabrication and assembly operation.

The deed noted that the property had been conveyed to the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company by the Union Mining Company by deed dated September 19, 1907. The Western Maryland Railway Company assumed the property from the C&P by articles of merger.

W. Arthur Grotz, president of the Western Maryland, signed the deed.

Healy Is Named To Employment Security Board

BALTIMORE, Dec. 16 (AP)—Charles D. Harris, Baltimore attorney and recently appointed member of the State Employment Security Board, resigned today and was replaced by Joseph P. Healy, retired meat packing firm executive.

Gov. McKeldin, who announced the resignation and appointment, said he accepted Harris' resignation with "great reluctance and regret."

He said Harris had informed him he did not have sufficient time to devote to his post on the ESB.

Harris was named to the board last June, shortly after the State Department of Employment Security came under fire from both state and federal officials for certain aspects of its management.

He previously had been general counsel to the Public Service Commission.

During his brief tenure, he assisted ESB chairman Robert B. Kimble and associate member Charles H. Borcherding Sr. in putting into effect many new policies to correct criticized weaknesses in the State agency.

Healy, retired general manager of Swift & Co. branch here, has served on many commissions and board of the city, State and federal governments.

He has served on the advisory council to the ESB, was a member of the War Labor Board, a Federal Housing chairman and State bank commissioners.

He is a Democrat and served as chairman of the finance committee for Franklin D. Roosevelt's reelection in 1936.

Ice Skaters' Delight

The young lad in the center seems to be "sitting out" this skaters' waltz as a group of youngsters tries out the ice at the floodlighted Gephart School playground. The rink will be open every night from 7 to 11 p. m. when the weather is cold enough, and a refreshment stand is to be operated by a group of teen-agers and their adult advisors.
